SEED PLANTED WHEN THE EARTH IS—

IN ARIES, which is a movable sign, governed by the sun, make rapid growth.

IN TAURUS, which is a fixed earthly sign, governed by Mercury will do good for all root crops of quick growth.

IN GEMINI, which is a barren sign, will not make a good growth. This is a good time to stir the soil and subdue all obnoxious weeds.

IN CANCER, which is a watery, fruitful, movable sign, germinate quickly. It is favorable to growth and insures abundance.

IN LEO, which is a barren, fiery sign, will die, as it is only favorable to the destruction of unhealthy growths. Trim no trees or vines when the moon or earth is in Leo, for they will surely die.

IN VIRGO, sometimes known as the sign of the blossom, favorable to the growth of seed and transplanting.

IN LIBRA, which is a strong, movable sign, do well and produce a vigorous pulp growth and a reasonable amount of grain.

IN SCORPIO, which is fruitful, producing watery effects do the next best after Cancer.

IN SAGITTARIUS, which is a fiery, masculine sign, will not grow well as this sign is unfavorable, both to planting and transplanting.

IN CAPRICORNUS, which is a moist, movable sign, will produce a rapid growth of pulp, stalk or root, but not much grain.

IN AQUARIUS, which is an airy, masculine sign, will not grow.

IN PISCES, which is fruitful, watery, feminine sign, will produce excellent results.

The air signs are the first best for harvest, the fire signs second.

CALENDAR EXPLANATIONS

In the column of Moon's rising and setting when the word "rises" is found, the Moon is at full, and the figures following that word are P. M., or evening until the word "morn", which means midnight.. From morn the figures are A. M., the moon rising in the morning before the sun is up. Then, after the word "sets" the time for setting is given, which grows later and later, from early evening until early morning, until the moon is again full. ¶In the Conjecture of the Weather the word "soliterraneous" is used to designate a period when Solar and Terrestrial meteorological disturbances synchronize.

TIME USED IN THIS ALMANAC.—For many years Apparent time was used. This was necessary in the early years when sun dials or noon marks were the means of regulating time. Now the correct time is sent out by radio and all jewelers have it direct from Washington in Standard time. Hence a change has been made in this respect to Civil Time, as the simplest form for general use. For E. S. T. add 20 minutes for central N. C., Va., S. C., and Tenn. To ascertain the day's length add 12 hours to setting and subtract the rising.

MOON'S PHASES (Eastern Standard Time)

Full Moon 2nd, 10 o'clock, 42 minutes, morning.
 Last Quarter 10th, 1 o'clock, 5 minutes morning.
 New Moon 16th, 4 o'clock, 32 minutes evening.
 First Quarter 24th, 1 o'clock, 35 minutes morning.

CONJECTURES OF THE WEATHER

1-3 Severe gales along the upper Atlantic coast, where high seas will cause serious damage to shipping. 4-7 Clearing and colder on the 4th and 5th. Frosts will damage citrus and truck. 8-11 Fair, with stormy conditions developing in the upper Mississippi valley. Snow flurries in New England. 12-15 A severe storm period, with blizzards in the north and driving winds and rain in the south. 16-19 Fair weather and pleasant in most sections. 20-23 A Mercury period brings sudden, swift storms in the Great Lakes area and heavy snows in Ohio river valley. 24-27 Cold wave. Warmer in the west on 27th. 28-31 Pleasant and clear, with temperatures remaining low. Frosts in the lower Atlantic and Gulf states. Precipitation will be normal for the month, temperatures below the mean.

FARM AND GARDEN.

If you wish to have early rhubarb, put an open barrel over a few plants. The barrel must be open on both ends, but it is wise to cover it on very cold nights.

Peach leaf curl is sometimes very destructive, completely defoliating the trees. Spraying with commercial concentrated lime sulphur, dormant strength, one to eight is the preventive. It is useless to try to control this after the buds have started, because the disease is then in the tissues out of reach of any spray. In fact this is true with most diseases of plants.

Sweet corn is one of the best crops for nearby markets. Everyone knows how poor it is when two or three days out of the field, so the farmer who gets his corn into the buyer's hands in a few hours always sells out quickly. There is less profit in string beans, as they can come some distance in good condition.

Since chestnut trees are no longer available there is an increasing demand for other fencing woods. In many sections of the East black locust is being much used for fence posts. This is more lasting than chestnut, when set in the ground. Thus grape growers, and others wanting durable

PLANTING TABLE FOR JANUARY.

This is the month for making plans for the year's operations. Very little work can be done in the garden beyond securing a supply of seeds and manure and preparing compost heaps and hot beds for next month, getting poles, brush and sticks for beans, peas and tomatoes. Clean up the garden.

FLOWERS: January is a good time to transplant and divide the perennial phlox, for clumps more than four years old are seldom successful. You can make cuttings of crape myrtle, butterfly bush, skyflower, box, roses, privet and hydrangea this month too. The easiest way to increase your roses is to bend the branches down; make a deep cut into the branch and cover the wounded portion with soil. To hold the branch down use wire. Prune figs this month after a heavy frost and paint wounds with white lead.

The blueberry plant is almost always found growing naturally on sand or peat soils and soils of this type are to be preferred. However, it will grow satisfactorily on soils containing some clay, if sufficiently acid. Blueberries are not self-fertile so several varieties should be planted in order to cross pollinate.

As a rule, most of our farmers seem to overlook the importance of honey bees on the farm. The cost of their upkeep is very small in comparison with the returns that they give. Child specialists all agree that cane sugar is not desirable for small children or infants. Bees are hard workers and they charge you nothing for their services.

SALES TALK.

Bald Headed Man (picking up bottle of hair tonic)—“Will this stuff really grow hair?”

Drug Clerk—“Yes, sir, it's the real thing. Last week I upset a bottle of it on some grape-fruit and the next day I sold them all for cocoanuts.”

MOON'S PHASES (Eastern Standard Time)

Full Moon 1st, 4 o'clock, 12 minutes morning.
 Last Quarter 8th, 9 o'clock, 52 minutes morning.
 New Moon 15th, 5 o'clock, 2 minutes morning.
 First Quarter 22nd, 10 o'clock, 40 minutes evening.

CONJECTURES OF THE WEATHER

1-3 Slowly rising temperatures. Snow storms in the Missouri river valley. 4-7 Scattered snow flurries in the north and showers in the south, but in general quite pleasant. 8-11 A soliterraneous and Venus storm period of marked severity, particularly dangerous in the west. 12-15 Clearing and colder in most sections. 16-19 Warmer and unsettled. Heavy fogs along the north Atlantic coast. 20-23 Fair and clear in most areas. Scattered local rains in the lower Mississippi valley. Snow flurries in the Appalachian mountains. 24-28 Unsettled period. Stormy at first, with heavy snows in the Rocky Mountains. Pleasant in the eastern states. Precipitation below normal for the month, temperatures above.

POULTRY NOTES.

Wood ashes poured into the center of an old auto tire laid on the ground provides a good "dusting box" for poultry.

A hen with a somewhat nervous disposition will make the best mother for guineas, as she will be more disposed to take them out to rustle for insects. Train the hen to return to the brood coop each night and keep her there until the dew dries in the morning. Tramping around in the wet grass is not good for young guineas, chickens or turkey poults.

If the average yield of your flock is too low, look them over and see which ones are not producing. You can easily tell the layers. They have full bright red combs, bright eyes, they are alert and active, usually quite gentle. The plumage is rough and more or less soiled and broken due to the fact that they have not had enough time to put on a new coat, the beak and shanks are pale in color, the lay bones are pliable and well separated—these are the layers.

A chick can only use about a thimbleful of feed at a time and this thimbleful must contain all the necessary elements needed for growth. Make sure that you are giving your chicks good feed. Plenty of hopper and fountain space is important too.

PLANTING TABLE FOR FEBRUARY.

GARDENS: Plant asparagus, rhubarb, horse radish roots, cabbage plants, onion sets, smooth seeded English peas, Artichoke tubes, Irish potatoes, spinach, kale, rape, strawberry, raspberry and blackberry plants and transplant to cold frames cauliflower, lettuce, broccoli, brussel sprouts, and beet plants, sown in hot beds in January.

FLOWERS: Continue to plant any available hyacinths, tulips, daffodils, jonquils, hardy lilies and other imported bulbs. Set out rose bushes and perennial flower roots of any kind available. Apply plant food as recommended by your seedman to shrubbery and roses. Continue to sow lockspur, poppies, verbenas, cosmos, etc., as outlined in January list.

Turkey raisers are neglecting the opportunity to develop a good specialty market for broiler turkeys to be sold at five to seven-pound weights for frying just as young chickens are fried. At least a good share of the growers are overlooking this possibility, for few birds of this weight are offered on the market. They do not dress out as attractively as heavier ones, but once a consumer has tasted their delicious flavor, he becomes an enthusiastic buyer. The selling of broiler turkeys opens an outlet at good prices other than at the holiday season.

Guinea broilers weighing about one pound are in demand as a substitute for wild game. House the birds in specially built pens in which they may be shut at night and confined until late forenoon of each day. The eggs will then be deposited where they can be cared for. Mere inclosures with small storm-proof shelters will serve as pens. The nests may be bottomless boxes set on the bare ground with a little straw or chaff thrown into them. Weather-beaten boxes will serve better than new. Guineas breed and thrive better if not disturbed.

MOON'S PHASES (Eastern Standard Time)

Full Moon 2nd, 7 o'clock, 20 minutes evening.
 Last Quarter 9th, 5 o'clock evening.
 New Moon 16th, 6 o'clock, 50 minutes evening.
 First Quarter 24th, 7 o'clock, 1 minute evening.

CONJECTURES OF THE WEATHER

1-3 Unsettled conditions. Heavy snows in the Ohio river valley. Scattered rains in the south-eastern states. 4-7 Storm period. Violent squalls and gales do widespread damage to property. 8-11 Unsettled conditions. Temperatures fall in the Missouri river valley and northwestern states. Wet, foggy weather in the Gulf states and Florida. 12-15. Clearing skies quite generally. 16-19 Fickle weather on the 16th, followed by fair and pleasant conditions and rising temperatures in most sections. 20-23 Warmer and threatening, with storm conditions developing on the 23rd. 24-27 Clearing and colder in the northwestern states and Missouri river valley. 28-31 Fair on the 28th, becoming unsettled and stormy. Rains in the Ohio valley threaten flood conditions. Precipitation and temperature for the month will be normal.

DAIRY AND LIVE STOCK.

Many farmers believe that sheep require no special care, that they can rough it on bean vines and poor hay. While it is true that sheep will live with much less care than some animals, I know no animals which will respond to careful care and a little extra attention, more than a flock of sheep.

Milk goats are valuable animals. They fill a place where cows could not be kept. They cost less, give big returns. On the hill farms they will clear the old brush pastures and do a thorough job and do it cheaper than the ax. Cows and sheep follow the goats successfully. They are an asset to the right type of farms, but you must know something about them if you would be a successful goat keeper.

To turn out quality finished meat the job begins with the live hog. In other words, the result of the cure starts before the hogs are butchered. If hogs are over-heated or excited just prior to butchering a feverish condition sets up in the meat which makes it very difficult for that meat to ever take the cure properly, and also makes it much more subject to souring.

We often hear discussion at various farms as to the advisability of feeding alfalfa hay

PLANTING TABLE FOR MARCH.

GARDENS: Plant asparagus, rhubarb, horse radish, and artichokes. Cabbage plants, onion sets, Bermuda onion plants, English peas, Irish potatoes, beets, carrots, collards, mustard, parsnip, parsley, radish, spinach, turnip, kale, rape, lettuce, tendergreen, cauliflower, endive, broccoli, Swiss chard in the open. Transplant to the open all vegetable plants now in cold frames as planted in January. Keep tomatoes, egg-plant and pepper plants under glass, lifting the sash off these during mild days, so they may be hardened off.

FLOWERS: Continue to plant hardy flowers as suggested in Jan. and Feb. list, including pansies, snapdragons, zinnias, African daisies under muslin cloth or lightly covered with straw or pine tops. Plant out all kinds of perennial plants and roots, including roses, peonies, bleeding hearts and any other stocks available at your seed store. Plant dahlias, gladiolus, caladium, tube roses and cannas. LAWNS: Plant all kinds of lawn grass and use plenty fertilizer.

to work horses. Experimental results show that the quality of the hay fed is of far more importance and significance than the kind. Dusty, poor quality hay is bad to feed any kind of farm animals, especially horses. Probably the most frequently neglected item in the horse diet is constant and adequate amounts of salt. Flake salt is preferable to rock salt for horses; the commercial prepared block salt is good, but in whatever form used it is imperative that the horse have constant access to good salt at all times. During summer the horse sweats a great deal and this drains its system of considerable sodium chloride; salt will replace these essential elements and keep it in good tone and condition, if otherwise properly fed and cared for.

Flower beds and borders which have been protected by straw or other coverings during the winter should be uncovered a little at a time, to avoid exposing young shoots too suddenly.

MOON'S PHASES (Eastern Standard Time)

Full Moon 1st, 7 o'clock, 32 minutes morning.
 Last Quarter 7th, 11 o'clock, 43 minutes evening.
 New Moon 15th, 9 o'clock, 33 minutes morning.
 First Quarter 23rd, 1 o'clock, 10 minutes evening.
 Full Moon 30th, 4 o'clock, 59 minutes evening.

CONJECTURES OF THE WEATHER

1-3 Fair and pleasant. Scattered thunder storms on the 3rd. 4-7 A soliterraneous storm period, with heavy rains in the lower Mississippi valley. Gales along the New England coast. 8-11 Conditions moderate and skies clear in most sections. Local storms on the 11th. 12-15 Strong winds cause rapid disappearance of any remaining snow in Northern states. Fine weather for spring plowing in the South. 16-19 Fickle weather, with sudden, fierce squalls. 20-23 Storms continue until the 22nd, when conditions moderate. Scattered thunder storms in the southern states bring needed moisture to farm land. 24-27 Changeable weather, with local rains. 28-30 Clear and warmer until the 30th, when storms develop. Precipitation for the month above normal, temperatures below.

FERTILIZER FOR POTTED PLANTS.

Potted plants may be invigorated by sprinkling, after sundown, with a liquid fertilizer made by dissolving one teaspoon of the following preparation in water, 1 gallon: Ammonium sulphate, 1 lb., potassium nitrate, $\frac{1}{2}$ lb., sugar, $\frac{1}{4}$ lb.

FOR BEST RESULTS.

For best results, put out stable manure on the field when the points of the moon are upward. Manure spread on land when moon points downward sinks into the ground and does crop little good, so we are told by one of our readers.

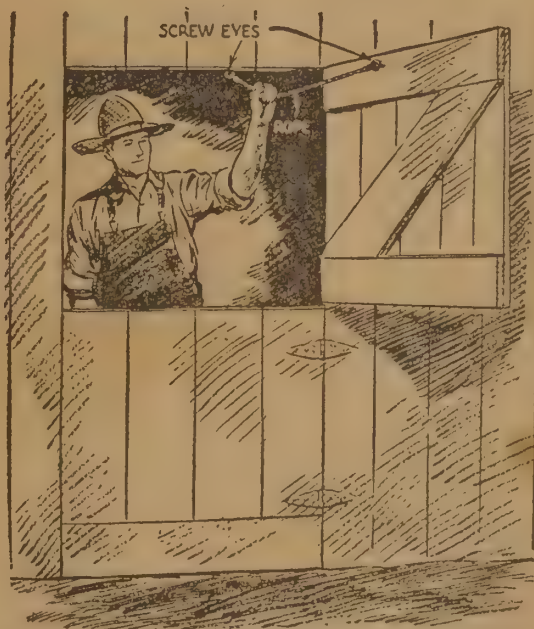

BROKEN HANDLE IN PITCHFORK BURNED OUT OF FERRULE.

To remove a broken handle from a pitchfork without drawing the temper from the tines, saw off the broken handle close to the ferrule, drill a small hole in the center down to the anchoring rivet and fill the hole with kerosene. After the oil has had a little time to soak into the wood, ignite and let it burn until the charred wood may be removed. The fork can be pushed into the ground to hold it vertically while the work is done and also to afford further protection of the tines from the heat.

PLANTING TABLE FOR APRIL.

GARDENS: During this month practically every kind of vegetable, hardy or tender may be planted in the open.

FLOWERS: Plant all kinds of annual and perennial flower seeds, dahlias, cannas, tube roses, caladiums, all kinds of bedding flower plants, Japanese lilies, peonies, bleeding hearts, rose and shrubbery. LAWNS: Plant all kinds of lawn grasses and use liberal portions of lawn plant food.

SHORT ROPE PERMITS EASY CLOSING OF BARN DOOR.

The difficulty of pulling the top section of a barn door shut from the inside may be overcome by attaching a short length of rope to the door and frame by means of screw eyes. When the door is opened the rope is taut and out of the way, but may be reached easily and pulled down to close the door with little effort.

When it is necessary to prevent a number of rope ends from raveling, dip them in varnish which has been exposed to air until it is double the usual consistency.

KEEPS ROSE BUSH FROM FREEZING.

Your rose bushes need special attention if they are to last over the winter.

To make sure that water does not accumulate around the plants, mound the dirt well up around the stems before the ground freezes, so that adequate drainage is provided to carry the water away from the roots.

BOTTLE CAP IMPROVES FLOWERPOT.

To keep dirt from packing so firmly over the drain opening of a flowerpot that it will not serve its purpose, drop a bottle cap over the opening before putting in the soil. The crimp rim of the cap will allow excess water to escape easily.

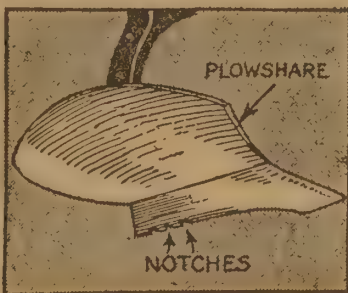

WEATHER PROVERBS.

"A morning rainbow brings rain." True. It means, really, that there is rain to the west and since the prevailing wind in the U. S. A. and Canada is the west wind, the rain is being driven towards you.

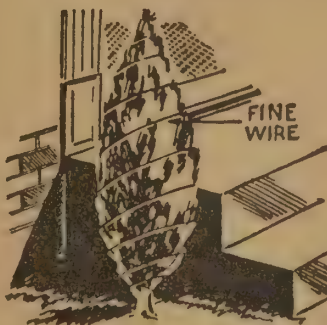

"I can smell rain." Sometimes true, in farm areas. An approaching storm releases gases from decaying vegetable matter and these can sometimes make themselves felt.

PLANTING TABLE FOR MAY.

GARDENS: This is the big month for out door planting of all kinds. You may plant the entire list of garden seeds of both hardy and tender varieties, and make second planting of snap beans, corn, and if not already planted in sufficient quantities, continue to plant lettuce, mustard, beets, spinach, radish, turnips, kale, cabbage plants, onion sets, cauliflower, celery, carrots, parsley, squash, cucumber, tomato plants, peppers, eggplants, water melons, cantaloupes, butter beans, pole beans, okra and anything that you like in vegetables. Also plant black-eye peas, crowder and lady peas.

NOTCHED PLOWSHARE CUTS ROOTS.

To overcome the difficulty in plowing old and deep-rooted sods such as alfalfa or sweet clover, one farmer filed a row of notches near the heel of each plowshare. Large, woody roots are sheared off readily by the short serrated edge formed by the notches. The latter should be about 1 in. apart and need not be more than $\frac{3}{8}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ in. deep.

PROTECTING EVERGREEN TREES DURING THE WINTER.

For protecting evergreen trees that are subject to damage due to snow filtering and weighting down the branches, fine electrical wire will answer the purpose a great deal better than cloth or strings. Start at the bottom of the evergreen and wrap wire around as shown. In the spring, the wire can be removed quickly and, if desired, can be stored away for use the following winter.

OUR ALMANAC TALE.AN EXCITING TIME.

By Si Slocum.

Most of the towns in the Great Smoky mountains are quiet, peaceful little communities, centered around a garage, filling station, courthouse and general store. Sometimes, however, something happens to break the monotony, and last Thursday was one of the times. Sam Swan, who runs The Advocate and does job printin' was the cause of the temporary perkin' up of the village—that is, Sam was the instrument of the uplift any how.

But let Si Slocum tell about it!

Yew see, Sam, onlike most editors, owns two pairs of trousers, the ones he's a-wearin' and a winter pair that he'd left a-hangin' in the shed behind The Advocate offis. With the fust touch of frost Sam begins tew remember them heavy trousers, and yistiddy morn'-in', bright and early, before the lady type-setter had cum down, Sam builds up a nice brisk fire in the offis stove and goes out and hauls in them warm, comfortable pants that's been restin' all summer and puts 'em on. Then he stands with his back tew the stove and prepares to get well roasted.

PLANTING TABLE FOR JUNE.

GARDENS: Continue to plant all kinds of vegetable plants, such as tomato, eggplant, peppers, cabbage and celery. Also butter beans, pole beans, New Zealand spinach, tendergreen and Swiss chard for summer salad, also sow collards, cabbage, celery and cauliflower for plants later transplanting. Plant blackeye, crowder and lady peas, squash, cucumber, pumpkin.

FLOWERS: Continue to plant all kinds of cut flowers, especially zinnias, marigolds, calendula, dahlias, nasturtiums, phlox, etc., for late fall blooms. Watch all plants closely for signs of insects or disease.

Sam felt something hot sockin' him.

Gist about then things begin tew happen. Yew see, durin' the summer sum pesky hornets had found Sam's trousers and hed made a nest in the rear pocket of the same. As the cold weather come on they was still hangin' on to their summer quarters—chilled, but merely sleepin', as Sam discovered when he backed up tew that stove.

Sam felt sumthin' kinda hot sockin' him, off agin', wavin' their arms and a-slappin' theyselves like a whole flock of geese sassin' a book agent.

All this time Sam wuz a-jumpin' up and down, a-flappin' his arms and yellin'. Then he made a scoot fer the back door of The Advocate offis, and gettin' inside, grabbed up his summer trousers. Gist as he wuz about to shuck off the inhabited ones, in walks the lady typesetter, and Sam, half cussin' and half cryin', dashed out agin', carryin' his summer pants behind him like a automatic pennant flutterin' in the wind. Whar he wuz goin' or what he wuz goin' to do he didn't know; but gist then the offis devil yelled out after him:

"Sam, the typesetter hez fainted!"

"P-p-put a hornet in her pocket!" yelled Sam over his shoulder, as he turned the bank corner a-headin' fer the river.

When Sam cum up the seventh time, the last hornet hed gone away—mad as usual and not half satisfied. Then Sam crawled out on the bank and changed his trousers, feelin' gently of hissself on the raised places meanwhile.

"Pride goeth before a fall!" he printed in The Advocate the following day. "I oughta known better'n ter have had two pairs of pants. None of the best editors does."

INVITATION.

"Ah-h, you're the new missionary! We'd like jolly well to have you for Sunday dinner, Reverend!"

A PARROT'S METHOD.

"Glad to see you getting in on time these mornings," said the manager.

"Yes, sir. I've got a parrot."

"A parrot? What for? I advised you to get an alarm clock."

"I did, sir. But after a few mornings I got used to it and failed to wake. So I got a parrot and hung the alarm clock on his cage. And what that bird says about it would arouse anybody."

"If I take this castor oil, do you think I'll be well enough to get up in the morning?"

"Yes—long before morning."

WOULDN'T MAKE SOAP.

With George Washington's birthday not so far away it may not be amiss to tell this story which is said to have been related by General Fitzhugh Lee in a speech in 1887. There has been ample time since it was first told for it to be disputed if untrue, and since there is no record of its being proven false—

When George Washington was still a small boy there was a time when they found the supply of soap getting low and it was necessary to replenish it.

Mr. and Mrs. Washington gave instructions to the colored man to make the soap and told him where to get the ingredients—the ashes and other things. After a long interval the man came back to the house much perturbed.

"I cain' mek dat soap, Missis. Hit don't wuk out," he said.

"What is the matter? Did you make it just as you have done before?" she asked.

"Yes, ma'am, jes de same way, but it won't come."

Then, General Lee said, Mr. Washington investigated and found that the ashes the old man had gotten were from the cherry tree that George cut down. That was the trouble—there was LYE in it.

PLANTING TABLE FOR SEPTEMBER.

GARDENS: Carrots, spinach, kale, lettuce, beets, onion sets, Swiss chard, tendergreen, turnips, rutabaga, salsify, parsnips, parsley, cabbage, collard plants and smooth seeded English peas.

FLOWERS: Continue to plant all kinds of perennial plants as listed before and make early plantings of paper white narcissus, freesias, crocus, jonquils, daffodils, hyacinth and tulips.

LAWNS: This is one of the best months of the year to rebuild old, plant new lawns. Blue Grass, evergreen mixtures, shady place grasses and winter green and ryegrass should be planted to give perfect results. Use plenty of plant food, such as vigoro, bone meal, tobacco meal, lime and peat moss.

MAGIC.

"I take off my hat to no one."

"How do you get your hair cut?"

AND WHY NOT?

A full-blooded Pima Indian out in Arizona needed some cash, so he went to a banker and asked about a loan.

"How much money do you need?" asked the banker.

"Me want two hundred dollars."

"For how long?"

"Maybe two week; maybe two month."

"And what security have you?"

"Me got two hundred horses."

This seemed sufficient security, and the loan was made. A short time afterward the Indian came into the bank with two thousand two hundred dollars cash, paid off the note and started to leave with the rest of his roll.

"Why not let us take care of that money for you?"

The old Indian's mind flew back to the day when he wanted two hundred dollars, and looking the banker straight in the eyes, he solemnly asked, "How many horses you got?"

New Moon 9th, 11 o'clock, 6 minutes evening.

First Quarter 16th, 5 o'clock, 58 minutes evening.

Full Moon 23rd, 11 o'clock, 5 minutes evening.

CONJECTURES OF THE WEATHER

1-3 Fair period. Good weather for fall plowing and late harvesting. 4-7 Threatening conditions develop, with local storms in the Mississippi valley. 8-11 The center of disturbance moves into the Ohio valley on the 8th and 9th, with increased intensity. On the 11th it reaches New England where high winds and waves will result. 12-15 Fair and cooler in the east. Delightful fall weather in the Gulf states and Florida. 16-19 Variable spell, with scattered showers in the Great Lakes region on the 17th. Clear and hot in the southwest. 20-23 A cold wave spreads south and east over the western plains and Mississippi valley, reaching the Gulf coast and Florida on the 22nd. 24-27 Unsettled period. Pleasant Indian Summer in the Ohio valley and eastward to the Atlantic. 28-31 Fine fall weather generally. Precipitation for the month below normal, temperatures average.

TOO BAD!

"Wouldn't it be too bad, Honey, if the Captain knew I was talking to his wife, instead of reporting on the 'Blue' Army?"

SEIZES THE OPPORTUNITY.

The negro preacher's term had expired and he was anxious to stay on.

"Brethren," he said, "the time has come fo' those favorin' me will please say 'Aye'."

He waited a moment, and then he said: "Silence gives consent. I'se yo' pastah fo' anothah yeah."

PLANTING TABLE FOR OCTOBER.

GARDENS: Turnips, mustard, spinach, kale, rape, carrots, cabbage and collard plants, onion sets, smooth seeded English peas.

FLOWERS: This is the month to begin planting hyacinth, tulip, jonquil, daffodil, crocus, sweet peas, larkspur, ragged robin, cosmos, poppies, annual phlox, pinks, candy tuft, pansies, violas, ageratum, stocks and petunia seeds.

RURAL FORECAST.

When the sky is red in the morning, and there's a rainbow before noon; when the stars are ghostly dim and dull, and a ring forms 'round the moon;

When the crows caw long and loudly, and flies stick tight and bite;

When fish jump from the water, and sounds travel far at night;

When you can't get salt from the shaker, and your corns give you extra pain; there's no need to consult the almanac . . . you just know it's gonna rain!

SUSPENSE.

A man put up at a hotel, and the clerk warned him that the man in the next room was very nervous. When the man went to his room he thoughtlessly threw his shoe down very hard. Then he happened to think of the poor nervous cuss, so he laid the other shoe down very gently. He went to bed and about two hours later he heard a rap at the door. He asked who it was, and the nervous man said: "For heaven's sake, throw that other shoe down, will you?"

SORRY.

"You mean, Liza, your husband got concussion of the brain in the accident, not conclusion of the brain."

"No, suh. Ah means conclusion of de brain. He's daid."

CONJECTURES OF THE WEATHER

1-3 Clear and pleasant. Occasional snow flurries in the upper Mississippi valley. 4-7 Danger period. A soliterraneous storm area appears in the north-west on the 4th, and spreads south and east with heavy rains in the Great Lakes and Ohio river valley regions. 8-11 The storm area reaches the Atlantic coast, with dangerous gales from Cape Hatteras northward. 12-15 Fair and colder in north Atlantic states. Snow flurries in the upper Rockies and showers further south. 16-19 Changeable period. Clear and pleasant at first in most sections. Threatening conditions develop in the Missouri river valley on the 19th and local rains in the Gulf states. 20-23 Dangerous storm period along the eastern seaboard. 24-27 Cold wave. Heavy frosts in the south and light snows in the north. 28-30 Milder weather. Fair and pleasant in most areas, with slowly rising temperatures. Precipitation for the month above normal, temperature below.

ENCOURAGING.

A man bought a sawmill, and after he had paid for it, said to the former owner: "Friend, since you tell me you are going to leave here, I wish you'd give me a few pointers on how to make this mill pay."

"Well," said the former owner, smiling, "Well, stranger, this here sawmill was left to me by my grandma, and the patch where I got my timber belonged to my first wife, so I didn't have to invest anything. My two boys cut the logs free of cost, and Pearl, she's my niece, dragged 'em down here free of charge. Me and my third wife run the mill, so that part didn't cost no overhead. I worked this mill that way for two years and lost $2,000.00. Good luck to ye, stranger."

BREAKING PARTS.

A young woman was having her first lesson in driving. The expert was at some pains to make her understand the action of the brakes.

"The hand-lever," he explained, "brakes the rear wheels only, but the foot-pedal brakes all four wheels. Now, is that plain?"

"It is," answered the pupil with a trace of annoyance. "But what is going to happen to me when all the wheels are broken?"

PLANTING TABLE FOR NOVEMBER.

GARDENS: Smooth seeded English peas, strawberry plants, cabbage plants, onion sets, mustard, spinach, kale and rape.

FLOWERS: Continue to transplant perennial, divide and reset old bulbs, plant hyacinth, tulips, jonquils, daffodils, crocus, as suggested for October. Plant sweet peas, larkspur, poppies, ragged robin, cosmos and other flowers suggested in October column.

LAWNS: Continue to plant lawn grasses of all kinds and apply fertilizer to lawns, shrubbery, mulch shrubbery with peat moss and also use a light mulching around perennial plants at this time. Keep leaves raked off of growing grass using a spring tooth lawn broom.

STUNT!

"Carramba! I feel 'ze sneeze comin' on!"

WASN'T THE ANSWER.

Son—"Pop, I got a lickin' in school to-day and it's your fault."

Pop—"How's that, son?"

Son—"Remember when I asked you how much a million dollars was?"

Pop—"Yes, I remember."

Son—"Well, 'helluva lot' isn't the answer."

SLIP-PROOF.

Housewife—"Now please be careful with my new polished hardwood floors."

Plumber—"Don't worry, Madam, I won't slip with these here hobnailed shoes on."

TOE TALE.

"Do you know what one little toe said to the other little toe?"

"No, what?"

"Don't look now, but I think we are being followed by a couple of heels!"

DISCOVERY.

Asked to write a brief essay on the life of Benjamin Franklin, a little girl wrote this gem of a paragraph:

"He was born in Boston, traveled to Philadelphia, met a lady on the street, she laughed at him, he married her, and discovered electricity."

EGOTIST.

An old Swede and his wife were given to quarreling. One day, the wife remarked with a sigh:

"Vell, I vish I vas in heaven!"

"I vish I vas in the beer garden," groaned her husband.

"Ach, ja!" cried the wife, "always you pick out the best for yourself!"

HABIT.

The boxer's wife has no need for an alarm clock.

CLIMATE.

Two salesmen were arguing about the climate in their territories.

One said: "In my territory it gets so cold we have to put the polar bears in an oven to keep them from freezing."

"That's nothing," replied the other, "In my territory it gets so hot we have to feed the chickens cracked ice to keep them from laying hard boiled eggs."

COLLEGE HUMOR.

He called her "Spearmint" because she was "Wrigley."

Sam: What's your name?

Josh: Joshua.

Sam: Are you the Joshua what makes the sun stand still?

Josh: Naw, I'se the Joshua what makes the moonshine.

Old Timer: "I wrote an article on cow's milk for the News."

Youth: "Did it appear?"

Old Timer: "Yes, but when it did it was condensed."

Teacher: "Willie, define the word 'puncture.'"

Willie: "A puncture is a little hole in a tire, usually found a great distance from a garage."

Joe—"How are you getting along at college?"

James: "O, pretty well, thanks. I'm trying awfully hard to get ahead."

Joe: "That's good. You need one."

"What's your time?" asked the old farmer of the brisk salesman.

"Twenty minutes after five. What can I do for you?"

"I want them pants," said the farmer, leading the way to the window and pointing to a ticket marked, "Given away at 5:20."

"Spell your name!" said the court clerk sharply.

The witness began: "O, double T. I, double U, E, double I. double—"

"Begin again!" ordered the clerk.

The witness repeated: "O, double T, I, double U, E, double L, double U, double O—"

"Your Honor," roared the clerk, "I beg that this man be committed for contempt of court!"

"What is your name?" asked the judge.

"My name, your Honor, is Ottiwell Wood and I spell it O, double T, I, double U, E, double L, double U, double O, D."

NOT EXPERT.

Mountaineer (taking son to school room): My boy's arter larnin.' What have you got?

Teacher: We offer arithmetic, English, trigonometry, spelling, etc.

Mountaineer: Just give him some of that thar trigernometry; he's the worst shot in the family.

OUT THE WINDOW.

A preacher had a good sermon all written out and was eloquently delivering it one Sunday morning in a little church out in the country. The day was warm, so the windows were raised. A gentle breeze came through and blew a page of said sermon out the window. Yet the preacher never noticed it. By and by he was ready for the missing page and began a frantic search for it, all the time saying, "And-ah, And-ah." One man in the congregation could stand it no longer, so he said, "Brother, 'and-ah' went out the window."

BUT HE SURVIVED.

He had never had such a tough time in his life. First he got angina pectoris, followed by arteriosclerosis. Just as he was recovering from these he got pneumonia, followed by pulmonary phthisis and tuberculosis. Somehow he got over them just in time to get appendicitis, to say nothing of pyorrhea. All in all, he never knew how he pulled through it. It was the hardest spelling test he'd ever had.

ACCIDENTS WILL HAPPEN.

Our German neighbor, Mrs. Berg, has an adequate but slightly malapropish vocabulary. She was telling us about her motor accident.

"My husband," she explained, "got excited and stepped on the celery instead of the brake puddle, so we had a head-in collision. So our regulator was dented, the mud gutters was shuttered, the lances of the headlands was smashed to smattereens, and a man had to come from the surface station with the whacker and tow us in."

"When we got to the barrage we found out one of the cinders was crackled and had to be wilted. And, besides that, we had to get new pistols and a new commentator and a new correcting rod."

COLORFUL COMEBACKS

A lady wearing an off-the-face hat she had just bought asked her colored cook how she liked it.

"It's a right pretty hat," the cook gave judgment. "But it suah do make yo' face public."

"Does that mule ever kick you," the young officer asked a Negro mule-driver.

"No, suh," was the reply, "he ain't yet, but he frequently kicks de place whar I recently was."

An old colored preacher who was baptizing members of his flock by immersion noticed one man who seemed to hold back.

"Is you been baptized, brotheh," he asked.

"Yes, I'se been baptized."

"An' who baptized you,"

"Why, de Episcopal done baptized me."

"Why, brotheh," exclaimed the preacher, "that wahn't no baptism—dat wuz jus' dry cleanin'!"

DON'T STOP US . . .

A traveling salesman, caught in a torren-tial rainstorm, stopped overnight at a farm-house. In the morning, he looked out on a flood coursing through the front yard. He watched pieces of fence, chicken coops, branches, and an old straw hat floating past with the current. Then he saw the straw hat come back, upstream past the house! Then he saw it go down again. Pretty soon it came back upstream—and by now the salesman wondered if he had gone crazy.

Finally he called the farmer's daughter: "Oh," she said, after a glance out the window, "that must be Grandpa. He said yesterday that in spite of hell or high water he was going to mow the yard today."

RIGHT UNDER HER NOSE.

First Kangaroo—Anabelle, where is the baby,

Second Kangaroo—My goodness, I've had my pocket picked.

Mary—Jack, you're a dear.

Jack—I wouldn't be surprised; my father was an Elk.

POOR BUSINESS DEAL.

Judge—Your first wife informs me you are three months behind with your alimony.

Defendant—You're right, Judge, this second wife of mine hasn't turned out to be anywhere near the worker I expected her to be.

REASON.

In New York an Italian was being examined in court after applying for citizenship.

He answered correctly questions as to the name of the president and the capital of the United States. Then came this:

"Could you become president of the United States,"

"No," was the reply.

"Why not?" persisted the official.

"You pleasa excuse," begged the Italian.

"I very busy right now sella de peanuts."

LAST HOPE.

Rosemary, one of the many little girls recently sent out of London, was going to bed on her first evening in the country. "Do you say your prayers before going to bed, darling?" her hostess asked. Rosemary said she did.

"Well, then, kneel down and I'll listen as your mother does."

Rosemary repeated the usual "Now I lay me down to sleep," and then improvised a postscript of her own. "And God, please protect Daddy and Mummy from those German bombs. And do, dear God, take good care of yourself—because if anything happens to you, we're sunk."

SEEING DOUBLE.

"Oscar," said the bank manager, "there'll be a vacancy here soon, and I'm thinking of giving your twin brother the job."

"My twin brother?" exclaimed Oscar in surprise.

"Yes, the one I saw watching the ball-game yesterday while you were at your aunt's funeral," explained the manager.

"Oh—er—yes," said Oscar. "I-I remember! I—I'll go out and hunt him up."

"Good!" said the manager. "And don't come back till you've found him."

A JAPANESE BOY'S ESSAY ON THE BANANA.

The banana are great remarkable fruit. He are constructed in the same architectural style as sausage, difference being skin of sausage are habitually consumed, while it is not advisable to eat wrapping of banana.

The banana are held aloft while consuming; sausages are usually left in a reclining position. Sausage depend for creation on human being or stuffing machine, while banana are Pristine Product of honorable mother nature. In case of sausage, both conclusion are attached to other sausage; banana on other hand are attached on one end to stem and opposite termination entirely loose. Finally banana are strictly of vegetable kingdom, while affiliation of sausage often undecided.

ACCIDENT.

Sambo—"Whar am Rastus terday, Marcellus?"

Marcellus—"He am in de hospital."

Sambo—"In de hospital; what happened to him?"

Marcellus—"Oh, he jest came down de ladder about ten minutes aftah it had been took away."

A PRESCRIPTION.

A slightly deaf old sportsman, feeling run down, consulted the doctor, who after examination prescribed carrot, and plenty of it.

"How shall I take it?"

"Anyway you like it, and as much as you like."

A month later the patient returned in bursting health.

"Capital," said the doctor, "carry on with the carrot."

"The what?—carrot? Carrot, good heavens! I thought you said claret. I've been drinking three bottles a day for the last four weeks."

A minister was horrified one Sunday to see a boy in the gallery of the church pelting the hearers in the pews below with horse-chestnuts. As the good man looked up, the boy cried out: "You tend to your preaching, Mister. I'll keep 'em awake."

GOES IN REVERSE.

"The modern girl is anything but fast," says a writer. "Why, she often takes as much as 30 years to reach 25."

PAPPY IS HAPPY.

"Good morning, Mrs. Kelly," said the doctor, "did you take your husband's temperature, as I told you?"

"Yes, doctor, I borrowed a barometer and placed it on his chest; it said 'very dry' so I bought him a pint o' beer and he's gone back to work."

PATRIOTIC.

A young man was being examined for army service. The examiner found tattooed on one side of his chest a picture of President Roosevelt, on the other side was a United States flag.

"You're all right," said the examiner. "Anybody can tell that you are patriotic."

"You ain't seen nothing," said the would-be soldier. "I'm settin' on Hitler on one side and Mussolini on the other."

HAS HAPPENED BEFORE.

Weary and famished after a long day's trek through the North Woods, I begged shelter at a log cabin. It was a primitive affair of one room, in which was a stove, bed, table and chairs; a ladder led up to a loft under the roof. Despite such cramped quarters for a settler, his wife and four children, I was made welcome. With a hot meal under my belt, I began to nod. "Sorry to keep you up," the father said, "but we're kinda crowded so you'll have to wait till the little ones are out of the way." The children were put to bed early; then when the last one was asleep, the man took them up one by one and laid them side by side on the floor at the back of the room. Then he announced: "There she is, and she's all yours." I vigorously protested at robbing the youngsters of their comfort, but was told to think nothing of it. This procedure was usual whenever company came. Too tired to argue I turned in and knew no more until morning. When I awoke, I was lying on the floor with the kids: the settler and his wife were in the bed.—R. B.

CHAMPION ALMANAC SALESMAN.

The above picture shows one of our best almanac salesmen, and an unusually active man for his age. He is Mr. T. W. Childress, of Montezuma, N. C. The lady on the left is Mrs. Ella Childress, his wife, and the little fellow in the center is Sammie Ray, aged 4.

Mr. Childress has been selling almanacs for many years, but last season was his best, when he sold nearly 500 copies of the 1941 edition. He is also a champion walker, because he does not own an automobile. His life has been so eventful that we asked him to send us a brief account of it, and here is what he wrote us:

The first day I remember is the day that Lee surrendered at Appomattox Court House. (I was born August, 1862). The women and children left home that morning to a hollow place and a man came riding down that evening and shouted, Lee surrendered, and the women said, thank God, and started for home. When I was 7 or 8 years old I began my education in an old 1-room log cabin. I learned my letters in the old Blue Back speller and finally I learned everything in it. Later my father moved to Lynchburg and I saw my first railroad train and I thought it must be the devil. Later we moved from Lynchburg to Richmond on a packet boat pulled by mules down a canal. We were on the boat three nights and two days. The boat never stopped, but the mules were changed. In Richmond I went to a real school building and finished one term. There were 50 children in my class during my first term. My health began to fail and I could hardly walk near the end of the term, but was agreeably surprised to receive a silver medal engraved with Primary first Honor on one side, Richmond Public School. Then my first calamity overtook me. I could not walk a step without awful pain in my back. The family doctor told my mother I had curvature of the spine and I might walk in five years; gave me two big bottles of medicine. He said that was all he could do for me. I could not, and did not take any of his medicine. In less than a year I was walking and went back to school and have been walking ever since, so I claim the Lord healed me. When the five years were out I set out to see if I could walk. As the full moon rose one night in November I started down the road, and when it went down next morning I had walked 40 miles, then five more. My longest walk a few years later began at 2:30 A. M. and at 9 P. M. I had walked 55 miles by the sign boards. I was baptized into the Baptist church at the age of 14. My golden text is, First, seek the kingdom of God and his righteousness and all things needful will be added unto you.

I have had some near accidents in my life. A few years ago I was coming from church one night. It was pitch dark and a crowd of us including the preacher had to cross a surface bridge. No one had any light. The man in front with the preacher struck matches. I was behind and couldn't see a wink. I thought I was about to step off the bridge and took a step the other way and went kerchug in the middle of the river, and everyone was scared but me. When I got to the top I told them I was all right, but my hat floated down the river and I have not found it yet. My next near accident was when I was painting a tin roof for a widow here in Montezuma. The catch on the ladder slipped and the ladder made a powerful racket when it struck the porch roof, then went through a picket fence. The roof was very steep. When the ladder started down I grabbed it and rode it to the ground and I never fell. The widow came out rearing because I had torn down her fence.

My next accident was more dangerous. I was helping a man in Linville cover his barn with rubber roofing. It was not steep. I was putting cement on the seam, walking backwards and stepped off the roof 13 feet from the ground. I don't know how many times I turned over but lit on my feet. I picked up bucket and brush and went back up the ladder and told my boss I did not lose any time going down, but he might dock me a minute for coming back. The next day I finished the roof and walked home two and one-half miles. I have passed my 78th birthday. My wife is an invalid, don't own any property, so I have to walk 10 to 15 miles a day selling something to keep alive. I am selling Blair line and other things but the easiest thing I ever sold is Blum's Almanac. My wife and I signed up for old age pension nearly 5 years ago, and I believe some one is on the way to h— for not putting us on.

WOMAN'S TEETH SERVE HER AS RADIO RECEIVER.

Dental work serves Mrs. Fred W. Stutz, of Indiana, as a receiving set for radio programs. She has experienced the phenomenon since she had dental work done in which gold was used. She "hears" radio programs very faintly even though the radio in her car or home is not turned on. The reception is like a fading long-distance telephone conversation.

Although she has never heard any broadcast when no radio was at hand, she has been in rooms other than the one in which the radio is kept and heard the programs even though the set was shut off.

Her first experience was in a motor car when she told her husband she could hear an orchestra playing. They turned on the car radio and found a big station playing a symphonic number, which she had been hearing. Once she heard talking so plainly she could distinguish what was said, though generally the reception is too faint to be discernible.

It is all right in the day time, but at night is when it really bothers her. The radio reception on the lady's teeth keeps up even though she is laying in bed sound asleep. It affects her dreaming.

The other night she awoke after a terrible nightmare. She dreamed she was out on the desert, in the blazing sunshine—alone. She was lost. Thirst began to parch her lips; her tongue was swelling so it filled her mouth. She was in such agony that she awoke with a violent start—only to find everything peaceful and quiet in her room. But when she opened her mouth to see if her tongue and lips were all right, out came the soft dulcet strains of "How Dry I Am," coming to her over the radio receiver in her own mouth.

Another night she dreamed she was back in her childhood school—deeply in love with the boy across the aisle from her. They often sent notes of love to each other, and one day she received a note asking her if she would go with him on a moonlight hay ride. Of course she accepted. The night of the ride came and they were having a glorious time when all of a sudden the horses became frightened, ran away, and they were both thrown out of the wagon and on to the ground with some force. The jolt awoke Mrs.

Stutz, and as soon as she realized it was only another dream what tune should she hear emerging from her mouth but "When You And I Were Young, Maggie."

Mrs. Stutz is thinking of having all her gold fillings removed and porcelain substituted so she can get some sound sleep once again.

NAMING THE NAVY.

The custom of naming United States battleships after states of the Union originated in 1819 with a resolution of Congress which also provided that frigates should be named for rivers and sloops-of-war for principal cities and towns. This is the present system of nomenclature:

Battleships....States.

Cruisers....Cities.

Aircraft carriers....Historic naval vessels or battles.

Destroyers....Officers and enlisted men of the Navy or Marine Corps, former Secretaries of the Navy, members of Congress or inventors.

Submarines....Fish.

Mine sweepers....Birds.

Gunboats....Smaller cities.

Seaplane tenders....Sounds or bays.

Submarine tenders....Pioneers in submarine development.

Oilers....Rivers.

Ocean-going tugs....Indian tribes.

Cargo ships....Stars.

RENEW OLD STRAW HATS.

There may still be some life in last year's straw hat, even if it doesn't seem worth while to spend money for a professional renovation. You can always use it for a spare on bad days to save your new Easter bonnet. Here's a simple way to brighten up that old straw, provided it's not too out of shape.

If it's black, go over it carefully with a mixture of one teaspoonful of black ink to a saltspoonful of liquid gum. To clean white hats, if they are not too soiled, rub Fuller's earth well into the straw and brush it into the interstices of the plait, or go over it with hot water to which a little oxalic acid has been added. Sponge over the hat with beaten white of egg to stiffen it and give it a gloss.

HINTS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE.

When rag rugs are washed they should be rinsed thoroughly because soap left in them makes them catch dirt more easily.

To prevent fat from spluttering when meat is fried, sprinkle a little salt in the pan before putting in the grease.

In the folklore of food, raisins and spinach loom large as body-builders with great iron content. Nine out of ten people overlook molasses entirely.

A teaspoon of vinegar to a teacup of sweet milk will turn the milk sour for use in sour-milk recipes.

Wax or soap rubbed along the sliding edges of dresser drawers will make them move in and out easily.

Pomanders, oranges stuck with cloves, will scent dresser drawers and clothes closets.

To separate a tight head of lettuce easily, cut sufficient of the stem to loosen some of the leaves. Hold the cut end under running cold water and the water will run in among the leaves, loosening them.

To prevent cauliflower from turning dark while cooking, put a slice of lemon in the water in which it is cooked.

A teaspoon of vinegar beaten into boiled frosting when flavoring is added will keep it from being brittle or breaking when cut.

A solution of soda or ammonia will remove grease from unfinished wood.

If lemons are stored in a covered jar in the refrigerator they will not wither and shrink.

Are you thinking about using a spare room or two for tourists this summer? There are two principle things to remember—comfort and cleanliness.

If you plan to serve breakfast and dinner, or supper, will your garden and your dairy supply the fresh vegetables and milk products that city travellers especially look for in a farm home?

Scissors are the most valuable item in my kitchen equipment. For chopping dates they do the job in half the time required with a knife. Cut marshmallows with a scissor, dipping the scissors in cold water occasionally. They are also handy for chopping up bits of parsley directly into the soup, for cutting pimento into the desired strips, for cutting lettuce and chipped beef.

To make a good home-made dustless dust-cloth, soak some cheese cloth (or other soft material) in equal parts of paraffin and lemon oil. This mixture should be thoroughly shaken in a mason jar. Let your cloth soak in the solution for several hours. Then, wring out tightly and dip in luke warm water, not hot, and hang up to dry.

House plants frequently suffer from over-watering. A good soaking once a week is often enough in many cases.

Curtain tie-backs may be evenly adjusted by pulling the window-shades down uniformly to the desired point, to be used as markers.

To keep apples from getting brown, when quite a number are being peeled, drop them, immediately after peeling, into a pan of cold water adding a small pinch of salt for each apple.

To peel oranges or grapefruit easily, pour boiling water over them. If they are left standing in the hot water for five minutes the white lining will come off with the skin.

It is not necessary to shell peas. They can be washed and boiled in the pods. The pods will burst open and can be skimmed off as the peas will go to the bottom. The flavor of peas, cooked in this way, is improved.

FADED AWNINGS RENOVATED EASILY.

Awnings that have faded, but are otherwise in good condition, may be freshened in appearance by painting them with a solution of raw linseed oil, 2 parts, and turpentine, 1 part. The oil deepens the color and removes the faded appearance, while the turpentine thins the oil and helps it penetrate.

POPULAR SONG.

Just a little bit south of North Carolina,
That's where I long to be;
In a little brown shack in South Carolina
Someone waits for me.
In his letters he says that the weather's fine
And the folks are feeling great;
That the garden leaves and red rose vine
Is clinging 'round the gate.

Just a little bit south of North Carolina,
That's where my thoughts all stray,
To the one I love best in South Carolina,
I'm going back some day.
I can hardly wait to see the face
Of the one I idolize.
Just a little bit south of North Carolina,
I'll find paradise.

COUNT ON THE AMERICAN.

The Frenchman loves his native wine,
The German loves his beer;
The Englishman loves his 'aff and 'aff
Because it gives good cheer.
The Irishman loves his whiskey straight,
Because it gives him dizziness;
The American has no choice at all,
So he drinks the whole d—n business.

OH! FOR A MAN!

Two bachelor girls of somewhat advanced years were discussing the approaching holidays.

"Sister Molly," said the younger, "would a long stocking hold all that you want for Christmas?"

"No, Elvira," said the older girl, wistfully, "but a pair of socks would."

When Captain Cook discovered Australia, his sailors brought a strange animal aboard ship whose name they did not know. Sent ashore to inquire of the natives, they came back and said, "It is a kangaroo." Many years passed before it was known that when the natives were asked to name the animal and said, "Kangaroo," they meant, "What did you say?"

"I guess I've lost another pupil," said the professor as his glass eye rolled down the sink.

ANCIENT DEED MADE TO LORD JESUS CHRIST.

Land On Which Winston-Salem, N. C., Is Now Located Was To Be Used For God's Glory, Under Original Agreement.

By R. C. CARMICHAEL.

Winston-Salem is located on land which was bought for the glory of Jesus Christ. A deed made one hundred and eighty-eight years ago transferred the section on which the city now stands to Christ 'for the use of His people.' The deed was executed by Lord Granville, one of the seven recipients of America from the King of England, and in the transaction lies a story that marks North Carolina's second largest city as a peculiar settlement.

Salem, forerunner of Winston-Salem, was founded because of the desires of the people for "a settlement of Christians." Along about 1750, Bishop August Gottlieb Spangenberg—the father of the entire Southern settlement set out from Pennsylvania to search for a suitable section in which to start a community. He wanted 100,000 acres, and made a "free hunt," having no restrictions other than that of finding a territory adaptable to a settlement.

Bishop Spanbenberg searched through the Catawba country. He searched through the Blue Ridge section and through the Piedmont territory. He parleyed with the Indians on several occasions, but not until he reached the section around present Winston-Salem, did he realize the object of his journey.

"This is a tract which is going to be fruitful, the streams will never go dry," declared Bishop Spanbenberg as soon as he looked upon this section. And he was a prophet beyond his own knowledge. The streams of Forsyth have never dried up, and it is knowledge that the tract has been fruitful.

The tract, which now includes Forsyth county, was selected and in 1752 the royal surveyors came down and measured 100,000 acres. The unmarried men, first to reach the new country, came in 1753, and were followed later by the married men and their families.

Lord Granville, the only one of the original eight proprietors to retain his holdings, owned the land in this section, and it was from him that the Unitas Fratrum (United Brethren or Moravian Church) purchased the land.

Unitas Fratrum, itself, did not possess sufficient funds to make the purchase, but Count Zinzendorf, a leading worker, obtained assistance from many of his friends. His possessions had been spent in advancing the causes of Christianity, and practically his entire life was spent in the service of Christ. When he finally raised the amount necessary for purchase, he negotiated with representatives of Lord Granville.

Count Zinzendorf made a point that the deed for the land should be "made to Jesus Christ." It was declared that this was not permitted under English law. Count Zinzendorf replied that the deed would be made in this manner—or not at all. Just how he won this point is not clear, but it is a fact, declare historians, that the deed read as he specified. When America obtained its independence, the old English laws were cast aside and new laws made the deed legal in every respect.

Thus Winston-Salem is on land directly deeded to Jesus Christ. Nineteen tracts were included in the transaction, measuring 98,985 acres. They were obtained for the sum of five hundred pounds, sterling, with a yearly rent of about 148 pounds.

Winston-Salem thus has a peculiar mission, that of living up to the deed by which its site became available. Its property is legally the property of Jesus Christ and the citizens are living thereon because they were described in the deed as "His People."

SHEATH KEEPS KNIVES SHARP.

The cardboard sheaths will also protect your fingers when you reach into the drawer.

LETTUCE GETS DROPS OF FAT OUT OF SOUP.

Those last elusive drops of fat can be removed from the top of the soup by throwing a lettuce leaf into the pot.

It will absorb the grease and may be removed as soon as it has served its purpose.

RIDICULOUS LAWS.

On more than one occasion Lyman E. Cook has been able to cash in on his hobby of collecting silly laws. Cook, a St. Louis lawyer, began collecting odd laws 18 years ago.

One of the first cases in which his knowledge of legal oddities came in handy was that of a South Carolina client accused of illegal possession of firearms. Cook dug up an old South Carolina statute which required worshipers to carry guns to church. Because his client had been arrested on a Sunday morning, the judge was obliged to quash the charge.

Since then Cook has enlisted the aid of lawyers all over the world in his search for freak statutes. His favorite is the ordinance in Neligh, Neb., forbidding the sale of holes in doughnuts.

So far Cook has more than 30,000 odd laws, ranging from the silly to the ridiculous. For example:

A Fountain Inn, N. C., law requires horses to wear pants.

Clinton, Conn., forbids one to walk a tiger on a chain within the city limits.

Oak Park, Ill., limits the number of doughnuts which may be fried in one day to 100.

In San Francisco, chop suey prepared with rat meat is forbidden.

Dogs must wear red headlights in Dallas, Texas.

It's against the law to set fire to a mule in Maine, no matter how stubborn the beast may be.

Cows with 10 legs or hourses with four tails may not be exhibited in Iowa.

IF SHOES S-Q-U-E-A-K.

There is no such thing as a little squeak. Whether it's bedsprings or a pair of shoes the squeak always resounds loudly. Most squeaks can be stopped if the right remedy is applied.

When shoes squeak they are dried out and the soles need lubrication by soaking in a neatsfoot oil. Stand the shoes in a shallow metal pan or plate and pour enough neatsfoot oil to just about cover the soles.

Allow them to absorb the oil for several hours. Wipe them carefully, first with paper and then with a cloth, to remove the oil.

Coil springs sometimes start to squeak apparently without reason. Regular lubricating oil applied between all points where one piece of metal touches another will stop it. Apply the oil, then press the spring down in several places so the oil is well rubbed between the pieces of metal.

It may take several lubrications before all the spots are reached and the squeak is permanently stopped.

MOTH BALLS IN THE GARBAGE CAN HELP TO KEEP FLIES AWAY.

One home owner hangs a wire strainer full of moth balls (about one-half pound) in the lid of the garbage can to keep out flies and other insects. A wire was soldered across the lid of the strainer to engage a hook soldered to the lid. However, instead of using a strainer, an ordinary mesh bag will serve.

WASHINGTON AND SELIM.

This little story has been handed down from the time before George Washington became President of the United States.

It seems that Washington was very fond of a snow-white riding horse by the name of "Selim." No other mount was brought to him unless by special command. But this Selim had ideas of his own, and these were shown his master as well as the hostler. Selim never allowed a switch or crop to be carried by his rider, and he took devious ways to inform him of his desire.

One day Mr. Washington, with his step-daughter, Nellie Custis, visited a relative in Virginia, and on their return Washington plucked a switch from a pink rosebush that he had greatly admired. On mounting Selim, he carried the switch with him. No sooner had he swung into his saddle than the horse began rearing and plunging. Nellie Custis, on her horse near by, sensed the trouble, and cried, "It's the switch, father! It's the switch!"

Washington laughed. "Certainly! Certainly!" he admitted, and threw the offending rose switch to the young girl. Selim promptly became as tractable as a young lamb. Washington patted the horse's neck instead of scolding him for his behavior. General Washington was never known to mistreat one of his horses. They seemed to take on some of the dignity of their master and to display this in their prancing gait.

6. Who built the first practical steam locomotive?

The first American locomotive actually to be operated on a common-carrier railroad in the United States was the "Tom Thumb," an experimental engine built in 1829 by Peter Cooper, New York ironmaster, and given a trial run on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, at Baltimore, in September of that year. Its famous race, August 25, 1830, with a horse-drawn car, which the latter won, added a colorful chapter to American railway history.

OLD CHRISTMAS.

In the eastern part of North Carolina, on an island not much more than a sand dune, is the little town of Rodanthe, where the inhabitants are fishermen and coast guardsmen. Here Christmas is celebrated twice a year, first on December 25, when Santa Claus comes, and again on January 5, which is called "Old Christmas." Not only Santa Claus but "Old Buck", an ogre with hoofs and horns comes at Old Christmas to punish the naughty boys and girls. None of the islanders remember how "Old Buck" originated, but he is definitely a part of the celebration. Old Christmas is a carry-over from the days before our current calendar was generally adopted.

There is only one tree on Rodanthe, so Christmas trees must be imported. Boat-swain's Mate P. A. Tillett is Santa Claus for the Old Christmas party. Each celebration is held in the school building.

The old people believe that domestic animals, particularly cows and oxen, kneel in worship on the eve of Old Christmas: that if one possesses second sight he may hear the cattle talk; and that even the bees hum a Nativity hymn in honor of the Little Lord Jesus and His Blessed Mother.

Other folk-beliefs are concerned with ghosts, with kissing under the mistletoe, with the custom of the children going from door to door calling, "Christmas gift! Christmas gift!"

The Christmas greens ivy and holly and mistletoe are still held sacred and play an important part in all the events of the season. The first person to stand under the mistletoe is supposed to have good luck throughout the coming year.

HER'S WEREN'T.

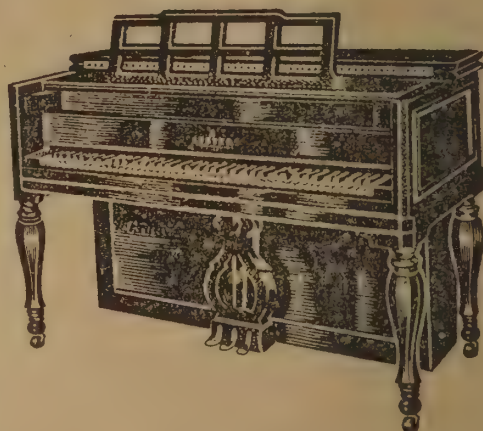

Phillip Brooks was dining at the house of a friend when he noticed the very small but dignified daughter of the house trying to manipulate a very large fork. His eyes twinkling with mischief, he said kindly, "Why don't you give up the fork, my dear, and use your fingers? You know fingers were made before forks."

At once came the swift reply: "Mine weren't."

SAVE THE FORESTS

Ninety-nine percent of North Carolina's forest fires are man-caused, and therefore are preventable (about 1% due to lightning).

Figures for the average year run as follows:

No of forest fires per year.....4,339

No. of acres burned per year.....423,242

Total estimated damage per yr. $752,395

North Carolina's total land area is about 31,194,000 acres. Of this total about 18,400,000 acres is forest land, or about 59 per cent. About 1,400,000 acres of the forest land is in Federal ownership (National forest, National Park, Military and Wildlife Reservations, etc.) The balance of 17,000,000 acres is almost all privately-owned and needs State protection from forest fires.

In 1936, 90 per cent. of all the acreage burned by forest fires throughout the United States was on lands without organized fire protection. In 1937 this figure was 94 per cent, and in more recent years the figure is about the same.

During the 6-year period of 1933-38, inclusive, the average fire in State protected counties of North Carolina burned 61 acres and did estimated damage of $108.00. During the same period the average fire in counties without State protection burned 1,006 acres and did damage of $1,662 (according to the State Forest Service annual survey in those counties).

IMPORTANT TO REMEMBER.

Careless brush burning is the principal cause of fires in North Carolina. Be sure that your brush fires do not get beyond control.

Extinguish any small fire you can.

Report any fire you discover to your county or district fire warden.

TREATING MINOR HURTS.

Injuries which seem minor can prove serious if they are not cared for properly. Here are some simple remedies for several common mishaps.

If you get bitten on the arm or leg by a dog, cat, or snake, tie a cloth tightly between the wound and your body. Apply iodine to the wound.

Never open a blister. Apply hot water.

An earache can be relieved by the application of a cloth which has been dipped in a solution of hot water and a few drops of alcohol, then wrung out.

Should you get a bruise, apply very cold water, arnica, witch hazel or vinegar diluted with water. Then use hot compresses.

If a person is choking slap him on the back. If this doesn't help, provoke vomiting by using ipecac or running a finger down his throat. If the patient is a small child, hold him by the feet, head downward, and slap on the back.

A paste of water and baking soda, carbolyzed vaseline, olive or castor oil, or fresh lard and cream will keep the air from a burn and relieve the pain. Very strong tea is good, because of its tannic acid.

If you suffer from hives, try rubbing them with salt or bathing then in a solution of equal parts of vinegar and water.

Use a sterile needle to open the wound caused by a splinter. (You can boil the needle). Then pull the splinter out from the direction it entered.

A dust particle in the eye, pull your upper lid over the lower and blow the opposite nostril. If that doesn't work wrap the end of a toothpick with absorbent cotton, dip it in boric acid, and wipe gently across the eyeball.

THE STARS IN OUR FLAG.

It is not generally known that the stars in the field of blue do not merely constitute a meaningless cluster equal in number to the States of the Union. In fact, each State has its star and the star belonging to any particular State may be located by noting the order in which it was admitted to the Union.

The star in the upper staff corner belongs to Delaware, since that colony was the first to ratify the Constitution. The next star away from the staff is that of Pennsylvania.

So we continue through the list of the thirteen original States and in the order in which they ratified the Constitution: New Jersey, Georgia, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Maryland, South Carolina, New Hampshire, Virginia, New York, North Carolina, and Rhode Island. Rhode Island's star is therefore in the second horizontal row from the top and it is the fifth star from the staff or the fourth from the right or free, end of the flag. Vermont, Kentucky and Tennessee complete the second row of stars.

The third row is represented by Ohio, Louisiana, Indiana, Mississippi, Illinois, Alabama, Maine and Missouri. The fourth row represents Arkansas, Michigan, Florida, Texas, Iowa, Wisconsin, California and Minnesota.

The fifth row, always following the stars from the staff outward, indicates Oregon, Kansas, West Virginia, Nevada, Nebraska, Colorado, North Dakota, and South Dakota. The bottom row of stars brings us to the newer States: Montana, Washington, Idaho, Wyoming, Utah, Oklahoma, New Mexico, and Arizona.

SAINT VALENTINE'S DAY.

The origin of the day concerns a priest named Saint Valentine, who lived in the third century. He was supposed to have the power of healing lovers' quarrels, and often was beseeched to bring back straying lovers. His gentle sweetness of character made him so beloved generally that the Emperor, Marcus Aurelius Claudius, feared for his throne, and had Saint Valentine beheaded. After his death, it became the practice to celebrate his birthday with giving sweets and flowers.

Thus the custom of gift-giving started and grew. Red, the color symbolizing cheer, for many years was most popular, but it has been largely replaced by blue, the true lovers' color, and pink, which symbolizes thought. Valentine letters full of love were the old-time custom. Nowadays, if one does not wish to bestow a more substantial gift, pretty cards are sent.

HINTS ON WASHING THE FAMILY CAR.

Flour sacks, which may be obtained at a bakery, make excellent substitutes for chamois skins when washing the car. Use them on the wheels and chassis until the trademark begins to fade and then wash thoroughly in soapsuds, rinse and the cloth is ready for service. Kerosene applied with a cloth to spots of oil on the body and wheels will soften the oil and prove effective in removing it. Rub the spot gently after allowing to soak and then wash with water. A small wheel-spoke brush is good for cleaning the radiator grill. Insect stains can be removed with a coarse cloth and water, while in severe cases, the addition of washing soda may be necessary. Streaks or smudges left on the car body or windows after washing are removed best with a soft dry cloth. If the chamois and sponges are kept clean, these streaks will be reduced to a minimum. Mild soap will clean chamois skins. Avoid scalding or drying them in direct sunshine, as boiling destroys the absorbent qualities of the chamois. In selecting chamois skins for washing your car, hold the skin up to the light. Any light patches showing up will be the first places to wear through. Thick chamois are difficult to wring dry.

ARE YOU AN AVERAGE WOMAN?

An industrious statistician has compiled the following figures regarding womankind. The Average Woman, he finds:

Marries at the age of 24.

Quarrels at least twice a month with her husband.

Has a baby weighing 7½ pounds.

Spends four years washing dishes.

Is five feet four inches tall.

Spends 8,784 hours (five years) gossiping.

Weighs 128 pounds—until she becomes careless about her figure.

Spends $312 in beauty parlors and $387 on drug store cosmetics.

Attends 3,027 movie matinees, many of them double features.

Threatens at least eight times to go home to mother—but never does.

Spends three years and eight months talking over the telephone.

Never learns to play a game that satisfies her husband.

Listens to 18 radio serials each week.

Is positive that her child is better than that brat next door.

Buys 369 hats and 582 dresses.

Devotes the best seven years of her life to attempting to make her husband over—without success.

Ruins three fenders on the car and tears off one garage door.

Occasionally wishes she'd married some one else.

Lives five years longer than her husband.

Darns 4,827 pairs of socks.

Never learns to drive a nail without hitting her thumb.

And makes a darned good wife in spite of all that.

—BRUCE COLE.

WHY IS "SHE"?

At last somebody has found out the reason for calling a locomotive "she," and the following reasons were advanced recently by A. A. Gardiner of the Canadian National Railways: "They wear jackets with yokes, pins, hangers, straps and stays. They have aprons, also a lap; and not only shoes, but pumps and hose. They surmount great obstacles, but sometimes jump the track at the slightest provocation."

COOKING HINT.

Many housewives are confused about whether to start cooking vegetables in cold water or hot water, and it is a puzzling question unless you know one simple rule which is this: Vegetables that mature below the ground (such as beets, potatoes, turnips, etc.) start in cold water. Vegetables that mature above ground (beans, peas, spinach, etc.) start in hot water.

CAN YOU FIGURE IT OUT?

Here's a little problem that Arthur Spiegel, of Raleigh, submitted to us recently.

You have five loaves of bread. I have three loaves of bread. We sit down at a table with Mr. Jones, who has no bread.

We throw our eight loaves into the center of the table and each of us eats the same amount of bread. Mr. Jones, however, feels like a cheap skate for eating our bread. He reaches into his pocket and finds that he only has eight cents. So he pitches them out on the table and he says to you and to me: "That's all the money I have, fellows: divide it properly between the two of you."

Now then, the problem is how much should you—who had five loaves of bread—get of those eight pennies, and how much should I—who had three loaves—get of that sum.

You ought to be able to figure it out in just a few minutes, so we won't insult you by giving you the answer. Anyway, you'll know when you get it.—State Magazine.

BEAUTY RULES TO GUIDE OLDER WOMEN.

While some women who have reached 40 continue to look remarkably young, many look from 10 to 20 years older than they should.

Women begin to let themselves feel middle-aged once they pass their fortieth birthday. When they shop they look for conservative clothes, things to wear well for a long time.

They become indifferent to their appearance because of that resigned-to-age feeling and attempt to cover this indifference with drab clothes and badly applied cosmetics.

Actually even extreme styles can be adapted to the 38 or 40 size figure if the woman will keep good proportions, and avoid the tell-tale dowager's stoop and the too prominent hip line.

Certain definite rules and suggestions should help the older woman attain and keep a smartness and style that will be the envy of many a younger woman.

Keep your body limber through simple calisthenics so good posture may be attained. Watch your posture and don't walk like a kangaroo. Learn to walk with grace and ease.

Watch your weight, but don't diet to too slim proportions. A woman of normal weight is far more attractive, and a woman past 40 requires normal or near normal weight to be alert and healthy.

Don't be too conservative in dress. Wear your most becoming colors. Point up simple but well-cut day-time dresses with costume jewelry, dainty feminine touches, or decorative short scarfs.

Keep your hair dressed fashionably and wear hats that are jaunty instead of dull. Take conscious pride in the texture of your skin and the beauty of your hands. Learn to use cosmetics to your best advantage. Cosmetics play too important a role in all women's lives to be neglected. But they must be used correctly to be effective.

YOUR SON MAY BE PRESIDENT SOME DAY.

It would seem that his chances would be better if he studied law.

Of the 31 men who have held that high office, 22 have been lawyers: John Adams, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, J. Q. Adams, Jackson, Van Buren, Tyler, Polk, Pierce, Buchanan, Lincoln, Hayes, Garfield, Arthur, Cleveland, Benj. Harrison, McKinley, Taft, Wilson, Coolidge, F. D. Roosevelt.

Three—W. H. Harrison, Taylor and Grant were soldiers.

Two—Fillmore and Johnson, were tailors.

One—Washington was a farmer; Theodore Roosevelt was an author; Harding was a newspaper publisher; Hoover, a civil engineer.

No Clergyman, Physician, Manufacturer, or Merchant has ever been President.

Glass baking dishes that have become brown can be cleaned by soaking them in a strong solution of borax and water.

HOLDER FOR IVY.

A cheap hanging basket for ivy can be made from a cocoanut shell in this way:

After sawing off one end of the cocoanut, scoop out the meat. Then drill several holes around the outside of the shell, through which the ivy roots can be inserted. Near the top opening of the shell, bore four holes and pass strong cord through them to form the handle by which the cocoanut shell basket is to be hung.

Attach these cords to a single cord or chain. Now fill the shell with rich earth and push the ivy roots through the holes into the earth. Keep the earth well watered and the ivy will flourish.

SEALS WINDOW AGAINST COLD.

Storm windows which do not fit snugly in their frames can be sealed to keep out cold air by placing strips of adhesive tapes around the inside surfaces of the window edge.

Be sure that all surfaces are clean before applying the tape, or it may not stick.

CHARCOAL KEEPS REFRIGERATOR SWEET.

Powdered charcoal placed in an open container in the refrigerator will eliminate ice-box smell. Perforated boxes made for holding the charcoal may be obtained in dime stores.

TO HOLD LIGHTS ON YULE TREE.

To keep electric light bulbs safely in an upright position on the Christmas tree, fasten the bulbs by their sockets to spring type clothespins by means of rubber bands.

The clothespins, which should be painted green to harmonize with the tree's branches are then clamped to the branches.

HOME-MADE WALL PAPER CLEANER.

A satisfactory wallpaper cleaner can be made at home. Here are two formulas, either of which will make an effective cleaner.

Blend two cups of flour with four teaspoons of baking soda. Mix with this five teaspoons of household ammonia and add one and a quarter cups of water. Cook the mixture in a double boiler for one or two hours. Then knead and work it until it is smooth.

GETS PASTE OFF BRUSH.

A brush used to apply paste, such as paper-hanging brushes, etc., can easily be cleaned with an ordinary safety razor.

Remove the blade from the razor and rake the bristles with the razor from the handle of the brush to the tips of the bristles. The dried paste will quickly be removed. This is much better than washing the brush as the bristles may stay damp for some time.

FIX THE THERMOMETER.

Each year, thousands of thermometers are thrown away because the thread in them, whether of mercury (silver) or alcohol (red), has split up in the tube so that it no longer registers correctly.

This can be fixed in a jiffy, but it must be done carefully. Take a lighted match and hold it well below the thermometer. The liquid inside will climb steadily up. As it almost reaches the top the split parts of the column will be forced together, coming into one piece. Once this occurs, the thermometer is perfect again and you must remove the match.

The heat from the match must be carefully applied. Too much and the bottom of the thermometer tube will burst. The nearer the mercury gets to the top, the more careful you have to be, to do the job right.

SO GOLF CLUBS WON'T WARP.

To prevent golf clubs from becoming warped during storage over winter, they should be hung up in a rack which any handyman can easily contrive.

The rack is merely a length of wood with slots cut into it large enough to hold the shank of the club handle close to the head. The rack can be fastened to the wall of a closet.

WASHING CUTLERY WITH IVORY HANDLES.

To wash cutlery with ivory handles: Dip the blades in hot soapy water. Rinse the handles and blades with warm water. Wipe immediately.

Soaking in water will stain the handles. To remove stains, rub the handles lightly with equal portions of vinegar and salt. Rinse with warm water and dry at once.

A HOMEMADE WOOD STAIN.

An excellent wood stain may be made from lacquer or either the brushing or spraying type by diluting with lacquer thinner.

Make a solution of eight parts of thinner to one part of lacquer and apply with a brush. Wipe off the excess with a cloth.

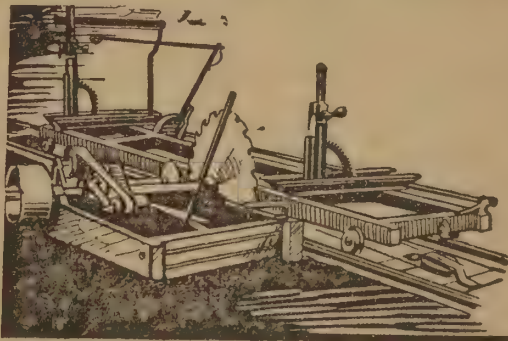

You can apply the stain more evenly by using a spray gun, making wiping unnecessary.

To remove streaks and lines made by areas overlapping in the application, swab the wood with a cloth moistened with the lacquer thinner.

If showcard color rubs off when dry, mix a small amount of glue or mucilage with it.

You can test silk for color fastness against perspiration by soaking a sample of the material in diluted acetic acid for about 10 minutes and then letting it dry gradually without rinsing; after a few days compare it with the original.

CASH FOR TREES

Extra money can be harvested from your timber crop this season with a Vance sawmill outfit. Saw your timber in spare time, when regular crops are gathered. And then isn't it better for your woodland to cut out the large trees and give the smaller ones a chance to grow?

On Coble's Fisherman's Calendar the best days for fishing are indicated by a solid black fish, days not so good by a partially black fish, and poor days for fishing by a white fish. This calendar is scientifically compiled, using the moon, the signs, and every known factor that has a bearing on fishing as used by the "Old-Timer," as well as the modern Sportsman. Use discretion in selecting your fishing days—don't go when it is too windy, tides against you, or the waters muddy—but select comparatively calm days when the fish shows solid black and you will find this calendar to be surprisingly accurate for both inland and deep sea fishing, and for any waters in or surrounding the United States and Canada. STRIPED BLANKETS WON'T RUN NOW.

When drying wet blankets with borders or stripes that are not colorfast, hang with the stripes up and down, so that the color will run into the stripe, not into the plain background.

CLEANS FISH PAN.

Reach for crushed newspaper, instead of a dish cloth, when cleaning out a frying pan in which fish has been cooked.

Scald out the pan with boiling water to remove the odor and then wash in very hot water.

SAVES TOP OF KITCHEN TABLE.

To prevent the porcelain tops of kitchen table or sinks from getting mared when using a ricer or other utensil with feet that are likely to scratch the surface, place the feet in rubber cups such as are used on furniture legs.

TO LOOSEN WALLPAPER.

To do a neat job of removing old wallpaper without soaking the floor with water, use a spray gun.

Spray the old paper to soften the paste, and very little, if any water will drop on the floor, and none will run down your arms.

Use warm water and a small hand or insect sprayer. This method is especially good for wetting ceiling paper.

BRAIN TWISTER.

(Answers on Page 67)

A farmer took a basket of eggs to town to sell. His first customer said: "I will buy exactly half of the eggs in your basket and $\frac{1}{2}$ egg over." The second customer said: "I will buy half of the remaining eggs and $\frac{1}{2}$ egg over." The third customer said: "I will buy exactly half of the remaining eggs and $\frac{1}{2}$ egg over." The farmer carried out the three transactions without breaking a single egg.

TO LOOSEN GLASS STOPPER.

To remove a glass stopper that is stuck in the neck of a bottle, spread a few drops of mineral oil around the joint and heat with a candle or lighted match.

The heat from the oil will expand the neck of the bottle and the stopper can then be eased out.

The bottle should be rotated as the heat is being applied so that the expansion will be even.

MAKING OLD CARDS NEW.

If your family are great bridge players, you'll find the recreation quite expensive if you discard the packs of cards as soon as they get soiled. It's unpleasant playing with soiled cards, but, on the other hand, any cards come high if you have to renew them frequently.

To get your cards looking almost like new rub them on both sides with a little piece of butter on a flannel cloth. Then polish with another piece of flannel dipped in flour.

COBLE'S FISHERMAN'S CALENDAR

This calendar is published by Grady W. Coble, former almanac publisher, of North Carolina, who uses the moon, signs of the Zodiac, and every known factor that has a bearing on fishing as used by the "Old-Timer" as well as the modern sportsman. A unique method is used for indicating the best fishing days—with a shaded fish beneath each date of the year—BLACKER THE FISH—BETTER THE DAY—FOR FISHING. This famous calendar is nationally recognized, having a total circulation for 1941, in every State in the Union and parts of Canada, of over FIVE MILLION. You may procure this calendar in a handy 32-page pocket booklet, with 12 calendar pages, 13 ruled pages for recording your catches, six pages on "Fish and How to Catch Them—From A to Z" with numerous "hints," etc. The booklet also gives the best hour of each day throughout the year when fish bite best, as well as the best day of each month. Send 25c for your 1942 copy today, or $1.00 for five copies, post-paid. Please write full name and complete address PLAINLY.

SPECIAL OFFER: With the $1 package of five calendar booklets you will be given FREE five (5) National Liars' License for 1942 — one for yourself and your friends — with space for holder's name and your signature, all bearing the Grand Seal of Ananias, Prince of Liars, with an illustration of a cheerful liar, and in a handy pocket size card. A WOMAN'S DRESS CAUSED A BATTLE.

Alamance Battleground is one of the outstanding historical spots in Alamance county, North Carolina. And, in case you don't know it, the first armed resistance against England was right at this point. The historical marker near the monument reads:

Battle of Alamance.

The militia under Royal Governor
Tryon defeated the Regulators at this point
May 16, 1771.

They had a unique system for collecting taxes in those days. The Royal Government would get up the tax books and would then proceed to sell these books to private individuals. The latter would bid on the books and guarantee to collect the taxes for five per cent, two per cent, three per cent, or whatever the bid might be. The books went to the lowest bidder.

Naturally, the fellows who got the books would do their durndest to get in every penny, because they, themselves, directly benefitted by the collections. When they couldn't get money, they actually took cattle and clothing and auctioned these off to the highest bidder. There was one special instance when they took the dress off a woman and auctioned that off. And that was the last straw. The people rebelled and refused to pay the taxes. Governor Tryon sent his militia into Alamance to back up the tax collector, and the Battle of Alamance resulted.

IS EPILEPSY INHERITED?

GOVERNMENT WHITEWASH.

10 lbs. salt.
1 bag Mason lime
5 lbs. rice
5 lbs powdered glue

Boil rice and salt and strain. Pour in glue. Add water. Add lime slowly while stirring. Let set 8 hours. Add enough water until mixture spreads easily with paint brush. Gives bright white finish and will not rub off.

SWEEPER FOR SNOW.

To make an effective sweeper for snow and slush, attach a piece of plyboard to one side of a broom. Cut the board the shape of the broom and about an inch shorter than the straws. Drill holes in the board and fasten it to the broom with strong wire.

The board has the effect of stiffening the broom and acts as a pusher while the broom sweeps clean the snow and slush.

HELPS KEEP WOOL SOFT.

A small amount of glycerine added to the lukewarm suds bath for fine woolen sweaters help to keep the wool soft and new-looking. Add a little glycerine to the last rinse water.

Never pull, rub or wring a sweater. Gently squeeze the suds through. Rinse in water of the same temperature as the suds bath. Pat out excess moisture with Turkish towel. Dry away from heat and sun.

When the last rites were performed, Mike looked long and earnestly at his friend and then exclaimed, "Well, Pat, I always thought you were going there, but I'm hanged if I thought they'd make you carry your own coal!"

REMEMBERS DAY HIS FATHER WAS SHOT DURING WAR.

One of the most familiar and fascinating characters of northwest North Carolina is a traveling preacher, John Henry Smith, now in his eighty-sixth year. He makes his home at Reidsville, Rockingham county and in spite of his advanced years finds traveling helps his living. He is a member of the Primitive Baptist Little Vine church near Hillsville, Va., and has been traveling over the eastern part of the United States as a preacher for the past 46 years.

Above all his adventures and travels he talks freely of the day during the Civil War when his father, a Union sympathizer, was shot and killed by his neighbors.

The Smith family lived on a 600-acre plantation in Virginia. It was there that Jack Smith, the traveling preacher's father, fed deserters from the army. He didn't believe in slavery and as the Civil War neared its close his activities became known to members of the Virginia home guard.

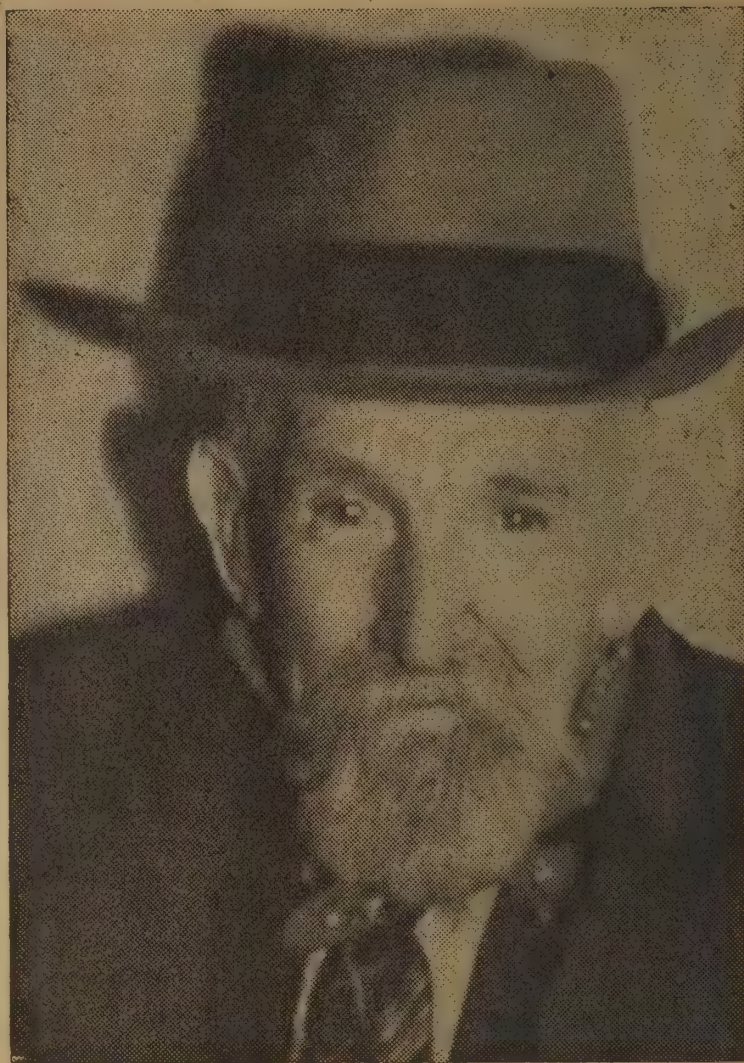

Then the fateful day came. The home guard, all neighbors of the Smith family, advanced on the plantation. They fired and the preacher's father slumped to the ground, dying an hour later. The Union sympathizer's cousin, Dr. Bart Smith, was shot and instantly killed.

Joe, a brother of the traveling preacher, was shot through the knee but recovered. Smith recalled that scene as his mother was on her knees in the field over her husband who passed away only an hour later.

WRONG QUESTION.

Cheerful Prison Visitor—Won't you be very, very happy when your sentence is over?

Convict (gloomily)—I dunno, ma'am, I dunno. I'm in for life.

JOHN HENRY SMITH.

The hatreds of the Civil War have long disappeared the 85-year old man recalls but he still remembers vividly that day in 1864. He now travels, "preaching wherever God sends him," as he puts it. He has recently taken a trip to Florida.

Smith had another unusual experience in his youth. He was just 13 years old when he made a chance visit to the home of a friend named White. There he saw a two weeks old baby girl in her cradle—The baby he later made his wife—Mrs. Rhoda White Smith.

SMALL SCALE PRODUCTION.

Six-year-old Betty was talking to the girl who had come to live next door.

"How many brothers and sisters have you?" she asked.

"Two half-brothers and one half-sister," came the reply.

"Oh," exclaimed Betty, "are you the only whole one in the family?"

A GAME OF BIRDS.

The game of birds will prove interesting to a party of young people and give a pleasant evening's entertainment.

The game itself is a game of questions and answers, the questions to be written upon sheets of paper, and the answers to be written after each question.

Each guest should be given a sheet of questions, and a pencil and only a given number of minutes must be allowed to write the answers. The list should then be corrected and the prizes awarded, if prizes are to be given.

What bird tells the time? Cuckoo.

What bird is apt to be cowardly? Quail.

What bird belongs to the laboring classes? Pheasant.

What bird is impertinent? Mockingbird.

What bird is needed in the harvest field? Thrasher.

What bird do you find at the meat market? Butcher.

What bird would you choose to make you a suit? Tailor.

What bird comes in early winter? Snow.

What bird is the children's pet? Catbird.

What bird is Uncle Sam's pet? Eagle.

What bird is mentally deranged? Loon.

What bird is a pessimist? Blue.

What bird was caught thieving? Robin.

What bird is a colored letter? Bluejay.

What bird represents rapid motion? Swift.

What bird represents a girl's nick-name and a form of pastry? Magpie.

What bird represents a foreign country? Turkey.

What bird stands in the fireplace? Crane.

It should be understood by the guests that the questions do not refer at all to the habits of the birds, but simply play upon their names.

Nautically Speaking.

A young ensign, very insistent he must have leave, was asked the reason by his commanding officer.

"My wife is expecting a baby," he replied.

"Listen, young man, remember this—you are only necessary at the laying of the keel. For the launching you are entirely superfluous."

WHAT DID HE MEAN?

At a dinner party in New York, a South American visitor was telling about his country and himself. He concluded, "And I have a most charming and sympathetic wife but alas, no children." Then, as his companions seemed to expect further enlightenment, he continued haltingly, "You see, my wife is unbearable."

This was greeted with puzzled glances, so he sought to clear the matter up: "I mean, my wife is inconceivable." Seeing that this, too, was not understood, and floundering deeper and deeper in the intricacies of English, he finally explained triumphantly: "That is, my wife, she is impregnable."

THE NICKEL.

The American nickel or five-cent coin, which is now rounding out its seventy-fifth year in circulation, is the most used of all the coins in the United States. Millions of its kind click daily into subway turnstiles, trolley coin boxes, the tills of automat restaurants, into clot and vending machines, into telephones. More millions pass from hand to hand and jingle in pocket and purse. During the past fiscal year the mints made and delivered to the banks more than 180,000,000 new nickels. All told, since the first American nickel was minted in 1866, more than 2,000,000,000 of the coins have been put into circulation.

The first nickel bore on one side a design dominated by the American shield, and on the other side a large figure "5." That design was unchanged until 1883, when the Goddess of Liberty was substituted for the shield and the Arabic figure 5 was replaced by the Roman numeral V. The best known nickel of all came along in 1913. It was the coin which bears the Indian head on one side, the buffalo on the other. The mint's official report indicates that the nickel with the figure of Liberty was discontinued in 1912, but coin collectors say a few of them appeared with the 1913 date and they have coins to prove it. But the 1913 Liberty nickel is extremely rare.

The current Jefferson-Monticello nickel made its appearance in 1938, and now no more buffalo nickels are being minted. There probably will be no further changes in the nickel for a long time. According to present law, an interval of twenty-one years is required before the design of a coin may be altered.

The nickel, although named for the metal, is actually made of an alloy of copper and nickel. As metal, each coin is worth only about 1 cent. In circulation, the nickel has an average life of about ten years. Nobody seems to know why, but the nickel is the only modern American coin which does not carry the words "In God We Trust."

Wooden nickels, famed in joke and legend, are more common than is popularly assumed. They are frequently issued as souvenirs of fairs and other celebrations, during which they are often redeemable at face value.

Real wooden nickels were issued, along with scrip of many kinds, by a few towns during the depression years a decade ago.—Ex.

GENERAL STORE.

Out on the Colorado desert, which derives its name from the river and not from the state, Frank Bagley runs the general store, the focal point for the needs of a hundred odd miles of desert country. The store, located at Twentynine Palms, Calif., is more than a store—it is an institution of many years standing. Its many functions include banking and grub-staking miners. His family apparently includes some poetic talent, and the difficulties of running a general store are outlined in the poem which he paid for as an advertisement in the local "Desert Trail."

There is something about a general store
(Sometimes it's less, sometimes it's more)

You may find a shovel, you may find a hat,
They'll be out of this but have plenty of that.

You can buy a thimble or a frying pan,
A birthday card or a gasoline can,
Baby ribbon or dynamite,
A hair net or a carbide light.

Camembert cheese or a box of snuff,
(They'll order more if there's not enough).
Sliced bologna or free advice,
Hard toe shoe or a pound of rice.

A place to sit and hear the news,
Drink soda pop and air your views,
A corner for lovers who want to hold hands,
Free directions to homestead lands.

Oh, you may find a shovel, you may find a hat,
They're out of this but have plenty of that;
Sometimes it's less, sometimes it's more,
But there's something about a general store.

JAR LID PLACED IN DOUBLE BOILER WARNS WHEN WATER IS LOW.

Since very little water can be used in a double boiler, it sometimes boils away without warning. You can avoid this by placing a jar lid in the water compartment. When the water gets low, the lid will rattle.

ACID STOMACH ULCER SUFFERERS RELIEVED BY REMARKABLE MEDICINE.

Free Samples Offered.

An acid stomach ulcer is usually nothing more than a raw, irritated spot on the tender, membranous lining of the stomach or just outside the stomach where this organ joins the small intestines. When food is taken into the stomach and the process of digestion begins, the gastric hyperacidity present in the stomach washes over these raw, irritated spots and under aggravation of stomach movement, food roughage and other contributing causes conduces to increased pain and agony. At length the sufferer often becomes unable to eat substantial, nourishing food and resorts to soft foods and milk and while this may afford a very temporary relief from pain may finally leave the individual in a rundown, weakened condition.

Von's Tablets act in such a way as to help counteract excess acidity present in the stomach and coat over acid ulcers if present. Thus Nature is given a better chance to heal such sore spots and pain is relieved.

If you are an acid stomach sufferer you should act at once to combat this condition by giving the Von treatment a trial. Free samples of this splendid medicine are yours for the asking. Just send a request to the Philadelphia Von Company, 958-H Fox Building, Philadelphia, Pa.

HOW TOWNS GOT THEIR NAMES.

Boone, N. C.—

After Daniel Boone.

Charlotte, N. C.

Named after Princess Charlotte of the House of Mecklenburg in Germany.

Concord, N. C.—

When Cabarrus County was laid out, a dispute arose over where to locate the court house; after much wrangling, a site was selected in the center of the county by engineers, and the courthouse was built to the satisfaction of all.

Dunn, N. C.

Dunn was named for Captain Dunn of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad, who auctioned off the lots for the building of the town.

Fayetteville, N. C.—

After Lafayette, who assisted the colonies in their fight against England.

Greensboro, N. C.—

Named for General Nathaniel Greene who commanded the Revolutionary forces at the battle of Guilford Courthouse.

Halifax, N. C.—

Halifax is a name of Saxon origin and means "holy hair." Many hundreds of years ago there was a beautiful Anglo-Saxon virgin. She was beloved by a clerk but resisted his advances. The enraged man seized her by the hair and beheaded her. She was canonized and that's how the name, Halifax, came into use.

High Point, N. C.—

Highest point in elevation on the North Carolina Railway between Goldsboro and Charlotte.

Henderson, N. C.

The railroad from Raleigh to Gaston was started in 1835. There was no settlement at what is now the town of Henderson. Chalk Level was about a mile and a half northeast and it was at that point where the north-south and east-west stagecoach roads crossed. There were stores, a tavern and several homes. The railroad reached Chalk Level in 1836. That same year a picnic was held at the old home of Samuel Reavis. The purpose of this picnic was to sell stock in the railroad and select a name for the new city that it was proposed to build. Lewis Reavis donated the land on which the town was to be started, and in his honor some of the folks at the picnic suggested that the city be named "Reavisville." But Reavis said no, and asked that it be named "Henderson" for his good friend Chief Justice Leonard Henderson of the North Carolina Supreme Court, who had died in 1833. The majority agreed, and that's how it happened that the town got its name.

Lucama, N. C.—

This beautiful name is made up from the names of three daughters of the first settler of that little city. Their names were Lucy, Carrie and Mary, and by taking the first two letters in each name, we get Lucama.

Manteo, N. C.—

Named for the Indian Chief who was baptized by the English settlers.

Marion, N. C.—

After Gen. Francis Marion, known as the "Swamp Fox" of the Revolution.

Monroe, N. C.—

Named for President James Monroe.

Morganton, N. C.—

After Gen. Morgan of Revolutionary War fame.

New Bern, N. C.—

Was settled by the Swiss, who called their new settlement New Bern after Bern, Switzerland.

Raleigh, N. C.—

After Sir Walter Raleigh.

Roanoke Rapids, N. C.

Named for the rapids in the Roanoke river at that point.

Salem, N. C.

The twin towns of Winston-Salem had their beginning with the founding of Salem in 1766 by Moravian settlers, and they named their community "Salem" which means "Peace."

Snow Camp, N. C.—Cornwallis' army camped there for several days and a severe snow storm came up. The snow is said to have been three feet deep. Ever since then, the community has been known as Snow Camp.

Shelby, N. C.—

Named after one of the heroes of King's Mountain—Col. Chas. Shelby.

Trenton, N. C.

County seat of Jones county and is located on the Trent river from which it took its name.

Washington, N. C.—

First town in the United States named in honor of George Washington.

Yadkinville, N. C.—

From the Yadkin River, near which it is located.

ONCE TOO OFTEN.

A farmer down in West Point, Mississippi, had a large, beautifully-kept pasture. The grass was always green, with a well-kept rail fence running all around it.

Down in the center was a lake of shimmering water and several times the minister of the local church led his flock of new members down to this lake and immersed them—all this, nowever, without the permission of the owner of the pasture, who after a time got tired of the practice and posted up a sign, which read as follows:

“POSITIVELY NO MORE BAPTISING IN MY PASTURE.

TWICE HERE IN THE PAST TWO MONTHS MY GATE HAS BEEN LEFT
OPEN BY CHRISTIAN PEOPLE, AND BEFORE I CHASE MY HEIFERS
ALL OVER THE COUNTRY AGAIN,
ALL SINNERS CAN GO WHERE THEY ARE SUPPOSED TO GO.”

MOSES.

The young negro recruit was the victim of so many practical jokes that he doubted all men and their motives. One night while he was on guard, the figure of one of the officers loomed up in the darkness.

“Who goes dere?” he challenged.

“Major Moses,” replied the officer.

The young negro scented a joke.

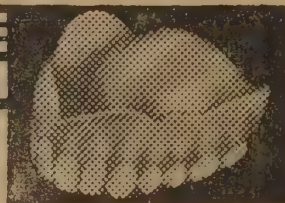

“Glad to meet yuh, Moses,” he said cheerfully. “Advance and give de ten commandments.”

The New York Sun was the first newspaper to be sold on the streets of the United States.

TO WHITEN DINGY TOWELS.

Sometimes towels become gray and dingy looking. Treat them in this manner and they will become white and clear again. Place them in a kettle and cover with cold water, add the juice of a lemon and shavings of a good white soap.

Place them on the back of the stove and allow the whole to come gradually to a boil. If very much soiled, the process may have to be repeated.

MISUNDERSTOOD.

The farmer's wife was spending a day in bed with a severe cough, and her husband was working in the back yard, hammering nails into some boards.

"How's the wife?" asked a caller.

"Not so good," said the farmer.

"Is that her coughin'?"

"No, you fathead," replied the farmer, "It's a hen house."

INTERESTING EYES.

Mothers frequently tell their children, "Your eyes are bigger than your stomach," when they foresee that the young persons are taking more than they can eat. In the case of the single-celled amoeba the eyes are as big as the stomach, for it is just about all stomach, and all sensitive to light. On the other hand, the jellyfish has only a redimentary response to light in what has been termed an "eye-spot."

The eyes of an octopus are much like a person, and so is the normal fish eyes in its mechanical perfection. In forms of life lower than the turtle the eyes lack color.

The eyes of a starfish are on its arms, those of a snail on the ends of its horns. The wasp and the bee have three eyes, in a triangle, on top of the head. The eagle's eyes are pear shaped.

Snakes have a glassy stare because their eyes are covered by a transparent cap that cannot be moved, though the eyeball within the "window" is movable. One of the eyes most sensitive to motion is the rabbit.

In addition to the triangle of eyes, bees and wasps have two compound eyes on the side of the head. A spider has eight eyes and a caterpillar six, set near its jaws.

The bird's eyes are most marvelously adapted to changeable conditions; birds see at long range or short distances equally well, and no creature has quicker sight. The eyes of fish, too, are so made that they can see through either water or air. I have heard it said that a fish is blind when taken from its natural element, but that is a mistake. The retina of the fish eye is saucer-shaped; that of animal and bird like a cup.—Lester Banks.

ALMANAC SERMON

By Prof. Zeno H. Dixon, Elkin, N. C.

THE BROTHERHOOD OF MAN.

Text: Acts 17:26—"And hath made of one blood all nations of men." These words are from the address of the Apostle Paul in Athens.

When Paul delivered this matchless address to the people of Athens, the world was much smaller than it is now. A narrow strip of land around the Mediterranean Sea, ruled by the Caesars at Rome, was the then known world. While the Romans ruled the world, the Jews and Greeks were the greatest nations. Athens was the center of the world's learning and philosophy, and to the Greeks all other people were simply Barbarians. Jerusalem was the center of Jewish religion and culture, and to the Jews all other people including the Greeks were Gentiles. Practically all these people were of the Caucasian or White race. The Blacks of Africa, the Yellows and the Browns of eastern Asia were unknown to the Jews and the Greeks; and the red men of the Americas had never been dreamed of by Paul and his contemporaries.

The origin of all these different races is still something of a mystery. But whether we accept the theory of Darwin and the evolutionists, or believe that all mankind descended from Adam we are still brothers in either case.

Christ came to save the world; and the greatest doctrines of the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man are the fundamentals of the Christian religion. Paul recognized this when he carried the gospel of Christ to the Gentiles of Europe, and the Christian church in all ages has declared it by sending its missionaries to all parts of the earth. Jesus said, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature." In some measures we have obeyed this command, but I fear that we have utterly failed to regard these people as our brothers, and certainly we do not love them as Jesus commanded.

More and more there is hatred and strife among the nations of the earth until our chief aim seems to be to kill each other, and all the leading nations of the world are bending their energies to that end. The Germans are our near kinsmen and yet we have come to hate them with a bitter hatred. Some of them are cruel no doubt, and it is hard to love them; but some of the finest characters in history were Germans. The Russians have been even more cruel than the Germans, and yet Tolstoy, who has been called the greatest Christian in the world, was a Russian. Gandhi, a Hindu, and Kagawa, a Japanese, are among the most Christ-like characters in the world today. At any rate these are all our brothers and we are bound to love them. "If any man says he loves God and hateth his brother he is a liar." "If ye love them that love you, what reward have you? Do not even the publicans the same?" "I say unto you love your enemies. Do good to them that hate you."

Undoubtedly it is hard to do this, but if we have the spirit of Christ we can do it; and if we have not the spirit of Christ we are none of his.

He hath made of one blood all nations. The Hotentots in Africa, the Japanese in Asia, the Negroes in North Carolina, and the Germans in Europe are all our brothers.

It is too true that brothers have not always loved each other. Cain killed his brother Abel. Joseph was sold into Egypt by his brothers. The splendid Kingdom of David and Solomon was rent asunder by civil strife among the tribes of Israel, and the bloodiest wars of Imperial Rome were between the factions of that great empire. The French Revolution and the civil wars of England were the most terrible of modern European history, and the War between the States surpassed in horror any other in our own country.

But these were not true brothers and did not love one another; but were moved by bitter hatred. I have observed through a long lifetime that quarrels between brothers are worse than others. Ella Wheeler Wilcox has said,

"God, what a world if men in street and mart
Felt that same kinship of the human heart
Which makes them in the face of fire and flood,
Rise to the meaning of True Brotherhood."

To love God supremely and our neighbors as ourselves is the essence of Christianity.

In the beautiful language of Coleridge in the Ancient Mariner:

"He prayeth best who loveth best
All things both great and small;
For the dear God who loveth us
He made and loveth all."

"God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God and God in him."

In spite of all the hatred and strife and war and bloodshed in the world today may the fine vision of the poet Tennyson be realized:

"For I dipt into the future far as human eye could see,
Saw the vision of the world,
and all the wonder that would be;

Saw the heavens fill with commerce,
argosies of magic sails,
Pilots of the purple twilight, dropping down with costly bales;

Heard the heavens fill with shouting, and there rained a ghastly dew
From the nations' airy navies grappling in the central blue;

For along the world-wide whisper of the south wind rushing warm,
With the standard of the peoples plunging thru the thunder-storm;

Till the war drum throbbed no longer, and the battle flags were furled
In the Parliament of man the Federation of the world."

TONGUE TWISTER.

Theophilus, the unsuccessful thistle sifter,

In sifting a sieve full of unsifted thistles,
Thrust three thousand thistles
Through the thick of his thumb,
See that thou in sifting a sieve full of un-
sifted thistles,

Through the thick of thy thumb!

HAZARDS.

There is virtually no limit to the variety of bizarre, and sometimes ludicrous events, which may lead to personal injury, or so it would seem from some odd claims filed with insurance companies.

The Aetna company reports the case of a self-inflicted "hot foot." The victim cleaned his spats with an inflammable compound, and then put them on before they were thoroughly dry. Hurrying down the street, the friction of one spat rubbing against the other soon ignited the cleaning fluid, and before the man knew what was happening, his feet were in flames. Then there was the tennis player who bit his own throat. He was lunging after a hard-hit ball when he slipped; his jaws came together with such force his bridge work was smashed; then convulsively, he swallowed the broken plate, "biting" himself on the way down.

The files of Aetna also reveal that sleeping in bed has its hazards. For example, one man got entangled in his bedclothes, and in trying to get straight, dislocated a shoulder. Another had a dream that he was being chased by a dog, gave a swift kick and fractured a toe against the bedroom wall. A third sleeper had a nightmare and dived over the foot of his bed to escape some imaginary disaster. Result: One completely vanished nightmare, one dislocated wrist, and one terribly frightened tenant in the apartment below.

BENT ICE PICK DOES NOT ROLL.

By bending an ice pick near the handle, you can prevent it from rolling when placed on a sloping surface. Also, bending the pick in this manner will make it easier to use, especially when parting large cakes of ice.

WHAT IS MAN?

Man's estimate of man is revealed by the epithets applied to him. He may be one or more of fifty things, as follows:

We call a man a beast when he appears to lay aside ordinary intelligence.

A brute when he seems to divorce himself from all moral qualities.

Beef when his avoirdupois is more prominent than his mental faculties.

Pork when he tries to get everything for himself to the detriment of others.

A skunk when guilty of shameful and malicious treatment of others.

A rattlesnake when quick to injure without cause.

A viper when taking an unfair and mortal advantage.

A mule when showing particular stubbornness.

A jackass when acting as though entirely devoid of common sense.

A horse when especially strong in body.

An elephant or a whale when exceptionally large in body.

"I Talked with God"

(Yes, I Did — Actually and Literally)

and as a result of that little talk with God a strange Power came into my life. After 42 years of horrible, dismal, sickening failure, everything took on a brighter hue. It's fascinating to talk with God, and it can be done very easily once you learn the secret. And when you do—well—there will come into your life the same dynamic Power which came into mine. The shackles of defeat which bound me for years went a-shimmering—and now—?—well, I own control of the largest daily newspaper in our County, I own the largest office building in our City, I drive a beautiful Cadillac limousine. I own my own home which has a lovely pipe-organ in it, and my family are abundantly provided for after I'm gone. And all this has been made possible because one day, ten years ago, I actually and literally talked with God.

You, too, may experience that strange mystical Power which comes from talking with God, and when you do, if there is poverty, unrest, unhappiness, or ill-health in your life, well—this same God-Power is able to do for you what it did for me. No matter how useless or helpless your life seems to be—all this can be changed. For this is not a human Power I'm talking about—it's a God-Power. And there can be no limitations to the God-Power, can there? Of course not. You probably would like to know how you, too, may talk with God, so that this same Power which brought me these good things might come into your life, too. Well—just write a letter or post card to Dr. Frank B. Robinson, Dept. 13, Moscow, Idaho, and full particulars of this strange Teaching will be sent to you free of charge. But write now,—while you are in the mood. It only costs one cent to find out, and this might easily be the most profitable one cent you have ever spent. It may sound unbelievable—but it's true, or I wouldn't tell you it was.—Advt. Copyright, 1939, Frank B. Robinson.

STRANGE ISLAND OF CATS.

(By Ewen K. Patterson)

Recently guano seekers discovered in the Indian Ocean, some 200 miles northeast of Mauritius, a small, unnamed coral island teeming with cats, countless hundreds of them, of all shapes, sizes and colors. Believed to be descendants of a number of animals that reached the uninhabited island from a sailing ship wrecked on a nearby reef 80 years ago, the cats are now hostile to humans; most of them live in burrows, and they exist chiefly on fish, which they catch by diving, and turtles, that are attacked when they come ashore to lay their eggs.

This is not the only cat colony of the kind in the world; more remarkable is the Island of Fishing Cats, in the South Pacific, which is probably the strangest empire of cats on the globe. Situated near Tahiti, the island has an extraordinary history, which dates back nearly 100 years when two badly rat-infested sailing ships were wrecked on a reef just off the island.

Hundreds of rats swam to the island, where they soon established themselves and flourished. Ultimately they became such a serious pest that the natives living there finally fled from the place to settle elsewhere, leaving the island to the rats.

Thereafter the rats continued to multiply with even more than usual fecundity, for they were not troubled by any enemies, and it appeared as if the island would have to be left to the rodents for all time.

Then an adventurous Frenchman arrived at Tahiti, and when he heard that the authorities were prepared to present the island as a gift to anyone who could successfully rid the place of rats he decided to attack the rodents with cats! He collected nearly 500 cats of all kinds and released them on the island. So successful were they in dealing with the rodents that in less than three months the Frenchman was able to take up residence on the island, where he started a copra plantation and poultry farm.

But he did not stay there long. Although the rats were soon completely eradicated by the cats, the latter ultimately became just as serious a menace as the rodents were. They bred freely, and soon the island was swarming with thousands of cats.

When the rats were eaten out, of course, food for the cats became scarce and, naturally enough, they turned their attention to the Frenchman's poultry farm. It was impossible to keep the hungry creatures away, and when all his poultry had been stolen and devoured, the Frenchman decided to abandon the island and leave it to the cats.

That was over 50 years ago, and since then the cats have remained in possession of the island. No attempt has ever been made to deprive them of their kingdom; in fact, they are now so hostile to humans that the approach of a boat brings scores of them down to the water's edge, where they stand spitting and snarling defiance at would-be visitors.

Deprived of easy means of existence, the cats have evolved methods of their own for securing their food, which consists chiefly of fish, crabs and turtles. They have developed into good swimmers and divers, and almost any day scores of them can be seen, from passing boats, lying on ledges of rock at the water's edge, waiting for fish and crabs to appear. As soon as a cat sees a fish or crab, it dives into the water like a flash, seizes the victim in its jaws, and then swims ashore to devour the meal. During the turtle-breeding season, in the summer months, the cats also take a heavy toll of the female turtles as they come ashore to lay their eggs.

REVERENCE FOR LAW.

Richard Jackson, a native of Massachusetts, was accused, during the American Revolution, of an intention to join the British army. When he admitted the truth of the charge, he was put in a crude country jail from which he could easily have escaped. But his respect for law forbade flight under such circumstances. He asked leave to go out and work by the day, with the promise that he would return each night. Consent was given, and for eight months he worked and lived under these conditions.

The sheriff finally prepared to take him to Springfield, to be tried for high treason. Jackson said that this would be a useless expense, for he could go alone. Again his word was taken, and he set out alone. On his way he met Mr. Edwards of the Council of Massachusetts, who asked whither he was going. "To Springfield, to be tried for treason," was the reply. At the trial, proof being complete, he was sentenced to death. Attempts were made by his friends to have him pardoned, but in vain until Edwards told of the interview. Then he was unanimously acquitted, based on his reverence for law.

WITHOUT SUBSTITUTE.

By L. E. EUBANKS.

In a small room of a factory building in Hoboken a woman is employed at very unusual work, the gathering of spider web. Her spiders are procured from the pig-sties at Secaucus, N. J., and only a certain kind will do. They are kept in boxes until needed. Instantly when liberated the insect makes for a window, leaving a long trail of silver gossamer. It is the woman's job to wind this carefully on little reels; she winds to within twelve or fifteen inches of the spider, then awaits its next sprint.

The reels, each containing 25 feet of gossamer, are packed into specially made containers, to be shipped by order. As far as I know, the spider silk is used commercially only for precision instruments, probably because there is so little of it available that experiments to adapt it to wider use are not worth while.

It is a wonder of nature, with a tensile strength one and a half times greater than a piece of steel of the same dimensions. For a few super-delicate instruments, the strands have even been split for fineness. I understand that the British government now has a man for this highly delicate work of spider-thread splitting.

Many efforts have been made to find satisfactory substitutes for gossamer. Hair, silk, wire, and other substances have failed. For the cross hairs in optical and precision instruments like telescopes, bomb sights, range finders, etc., there is no equal of spider web—stronger than steel or platinum wire of like diameter, and sufficiently elastic to hold itself tight and straight.

The threads now used in England are taken from the gray-backed spiders that live on dahlias. When the spider has been captured for His Majesty's service it is kept in close confinement for two days without food, so that impurities may be eliminated from the silk. Then the hungry spider is allowed to spin for fifteen minutes and the thread is wound on frames.

Think twice before you go into the business of spider-thread selling. It must not be very attractive, for during fifty years the employers of the "spider lady," above referred to, have been unable to procure her an assistant. Further, not just any spider will do; the gossamer of the small gray insect is too brittle, and that of the black yellow-splashed variety has proved disappointing in several respects.

While commercial uses of spider-thread, as I have said, are very few, R. C. Andrews tells us that in parts of New Guinea the natives use a dip net made of a large spider web to catch small fish. A piece of cane is bent into an oval shape and twisted around and around among large spider webs until three or four layers are stretched across the frame. Although flat when made, it is so elastic that under pressure it becomes bag-shaped. One advantage of this net for fishing is that when in the water it is absolutely invisible.

SUMMER ICE IN CAVES.

Hot as the state of New Mexico is in the summer time, it has a number of caves always lined with ice. Near Grants, N. M., are the Crytal Caverns and Perpetual Ice Cave where mother nature has ice factories running the year around. Ranches and miners' families find these ice caves a boon through hot summer months. Armed with a pick, it is comparatively easy to dig out a 200-pound chunk which, properly protected, will last a family for days.

FOR CRACKS IN PLASTER.

When plaster of Paris is used to repair holes or large cracks in plaster walls or ceilings, the setting of the plaster should be somewhat retarded so that it may be worked thoroughly into the cracks.

To achieve this, dissolve a small quantity of powder or liquid glue in the water to which the plaster of Paris is to be added.

AN OLD-TIME TRANSACTION.

From the "Kansas City Times," 1885:

Prior to the panic of 1873, H. H. Honore held about $10,000,000 of Chicago property, on which he owed about $5,000,000, and no man in Chicago had better credit. He carried a bank account in St. Louis where he had the thorough confidence of the capitalists.

During the squeeze of 1873 he was in St. Louis, and conversed with the president of the bank with which he did business.

"Mr. Honore," said the president, "your account here is overdrawn some $2,500, and as it is nearing the first of the year we will be exceedingly obliged if you will balance the account today." "It's impossible for me to do so now," said Mr. Honore, "and it will be many days before I can, in all probability." "Well, said the banker, "can't you give a note, or draw a draft, or something, so the bookkeeper can balance his books?" "Draw a draft," said Honore, "what the devil would I draw a draft on?" "I might as well telegraph the Czar of Russia for funds as draw a draft." "Well, Mr. Honore, draw a draft on the Czar," said the banker. "That will square the books, and that's the main point, you know."

So a sight draft for the amount was regularly drawn and mailed out, and the proper credit given to Mr. Honore. The draft passed through many banks in this country and in Europe, and by the time it reached the Czar had many blue ribbons and seals belonging to the different institutions through which it had passed.

It was presented to the Czar by one of his agents, who desired instructions as to what to do with it. The Czar looked it over, and could not understand how he came to owe money to Mr. Honore; but as everything appeared to be regular, he instructed that it be paid, but said to the attorney to advise Mr. Honore that the next time he drew a draft to send an itemized bill.—Rea Wilson.

HORSES ON AMERICAN STAMPS.

(By Aletha M. Bonner.)

More than twenty countries have honored the horse by giving this faithful four-footed friend a postage stamp for a stable. While probably more than fifty per cent of all American philatelic animals are horses.

Anniversary stamps in the United States are legion, since the Post Office Department has given commemorative attention to outstanding events in national life, and it is in many of these commemorative series that the horse appears.

All postal adhesives are made at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing in Washington, and here are turned out many miniature masterpieces of artistic design and skillful engraving.

One particularly fine example of stampcraft art, featuring horses in action, is the "Pony Express"—a 3-cent henna-brown stamp, issued on the 80th anniversary of the inauguration of the Pony Express Service.

This commemorative cover depicts "a mounted pony-express rider leaving a relay station with a consignment of mail." The stamp was first placed on sale April 3, 1940, at St. Joseph, Missouri, and Sacramento, California—these cities marking the two terminals of the early Pony-Express postal route.

Another example, the 3-cent deep-purple "Constitution Stamp" (issued in 1938 to commemorate the 150th anniversary of the ratification of the famous document by the separate states), which has for its central design, a colonial-type court-house, with two horsemen in the foreground. One is in the act of mounting, and the other is galloping away on his sturdy steed, to carry the important news.

Covered-wagon days and horse-and-buggy days are two periods that have been given philatelic treatment, and the horse in harness is a familiar design on many past and present stamps. Prior to the advent of the automobile, the rural-mail carrier and his equipage appeared daily on the country roads of America, and December 12, 1912, a 4-cent stamp was issued to honor the carrier and his equine companion, both sharing alike in rural free delivery fame.

Gerald Cassidy's painting, "Coronado and His Captains," has been reproduced on the 3-cent purple Coronado cover of 1940 release; but the stamp might well be called "Coronado and His Horse," for the central motif, which is arranged in the form of a half-circle, pictures the intrepid Spanish explorer of the American Southwest (1540-42) seated upon a large white horse surrounded by other mounted members of the expedition.

Coronado's interest in animals is brought out in his quaintly worded report to the Mexican Viceroy. In describing the Southwest region he wrote: "The countrey is all plaines . . . there is most excellent grasse . . . for our horses as well to feed them in pastures, as to mowe and make hay . . . Here are many sorts of beasts as Beares, Tigers, Lions, Porkespicks." His narrative is of value since it furnishes one of the early authentic accounts of the native buffalo, incidentally, another philatelic animal, as "The Buffalo Stamp," a 30-cent olive-brown, was issued March 20, 1923.

Because of the important part that horses have played on the stage of national history, rightly should they share honors with pioneers and patriots, and be pictured on stamps commemorating America's calvalcade of progress.

SONG WITHOUT MUSIC

By Clarence Allen Gasa.

A song without music,
A spring without flowers,
A day without sunshine,
A garden without showers
An unanswered prayer,
To my great God divine,
If we do not meet again,
These will be mine.

A sky without blue clouds above,
A night without stars to shine,
A million hopes falling, my love,
These will be mine.
If you do not come again,
Can I pray still more?
For if this one prayer is vain!
What lies in store?

Surely not laughter for without you,
Laughter is dead.
Surely not hunger for that too
Would have fled.
Surely not hope for what hope
Could remain—
If you should but go away
And not come again.

THE WORLD'S BE-HAPPY-TUDES.

Blessed are the self-sufficient, for they shall need no help from outside themselves.

Blessed are the merrymakers, for they shall be well paid as gloom-chasers.

Blessed are the self-esteemed, for with their own lips they shall praise themselves.

Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after success, for they shall be emulated as well as envied.

Blessed are the blase, for they shall be called "The Emancipated."

Blessed are the war-makers, for they shall be well paid while they live on remembered in bronze when they die.

Blessed are they who are shrewd enough to avoid sacrifice, for they shall not be found holding the bag.

Rejoice in thy good fortune and be exceeding glad, for men shall speak well of thee when thou dost well for thyself.—Rev. Arthur Johnson.

SETTING TILE IN CONCRETE.

Concrete steps can be dressed up to make them interesting and colorful by the use of set-in broken pieces of tile of various colors. The pieces of tile are assembled in this fashion:

Cover a piece of cardboard, cut to the size of the colored pattern you want for the steps, with glue. Place the pieces of broken tile upside down on the sticky surface.

When the concrete has been poured and allowed to settle for a few hours, press the piece of colored tile, arranged in a pattern on the cardboard, into the soft surface of the concrete. Allow the cardboard to remain fully exposed so that it can be removed when the concrete has hardened.

Finish up by filling the cracks between the tiles with a thin mixture of cement.

KEEPING A RUG FROM SLIDING.

Scatter rugs on highly polished floors can be the cause of grave injuries when they slide around on the slippery surface. They can be kept from sliding if felt roofing paper is put on the underside of the rugs. This can be done by making triangular pockets at each corner of the rugs, into which the roofing paper can be slipped.

COLDER THAN ICE.

An "Arctic powder," colder than ice, may preserve serums, cool X-ray photographic solutions, and chill the water for ice bags, in the hospitals of the future.

Recently demonstrated before physicians and surgeons, a few ounces of the powder dissolved in a glass of water dropped the temperature about forty degrees within three minutes without forming ice.

Under laboratory conditions, it is claimed, the temperature can be lowered as much as 65 degrees and as far as 22 degrees below zero. Water chilled in this way will remain cool for several hours.

One pound of the chemical, which can be manufactured for about one cent, is claimed to have cooling power equal to four pounds of ice.

ROPE SEALS FLOOR CRACKS.

In old houses with wide board flooring, the shrinkage of the boards is likely to leave gaps between the boards. These open joints may be stuffed with rope treated in the following way:

Unravel strands of rope and soak them in lead-and-oil paint. Then stuff them into the open joints until the joints are packed tight. Swab on more paint and then repaint the entire floor.

The rope is resilient enough to stand any shrinkage or expansion in the flooring.

BURNING PAPER PREVENTS GAS FORMING IN FURNACE.

In the morning after I have shaken the furnace down and added fresh coal, the fire is sometimes slow to burn. Gas will accumulate and the furnace will blow out filling the basement with gas and ash dust. When I notice that the fire is not coming up as it should, I ignite a crumpled newspaper and throw it on the coal and close the door. This burns up the gas and starts the draft.

NECK OF BOTTLE HOLDS PLANTS.

An excellent holder for such aquarium plants as anachris and cabomba can be made from the necks of beer and soda bottles. The bottles should be cut off about four inches from the top. Press them into the gravel on the bottom of the aquarium and place bunches of the plants in them.

DYE YOUR FADED CORDUROY TAN.

If your corduroy pants have lost their original color from being washed so many times, they can be dyed tan at a cost of only 10 cents by spending this amount for permanganate of potash. Dissolve this in water, 1 qt. Then get a vessel large enough to hold the pants, fill it with water and add the permanganate solution. Before dipping the pants, try a scrap piece of cotton to determine the right shade. Pants should be dipped wrong side out and then be allowed to remain in the solution only a few seconds at a time until the desired shade is obtained. Wring them out thoroughly, rinse in clear water and hang in a shady place to dry.

PAINT FOR INTERIOR BASEMENT WALLS MADE FROM CEMENT AND MILK.

If you would like to clean up your basement walls and give them an inexpensive white coating, try a mixture of white cement and skim milk. In mixing pour the cement into the milk, stirring it constantly until the mixture has reached a consistency that can be applied to the walls with a brush. Proportions are not critical. A paint of this type will adhere and will withstand vigorous scrubbing and abrasions.

STICKING OF ICE TRAY AVOIDED WITH WAXED PAPER.

If your refrigerator ice trays have a tendency to stick in the freezing unit, fold wax paper around the bottoms and sides before inserting them. This will tend to prevent moisture on the tray from freezing to the unit, and the trays will slide in or out easily.

INCREASING LIFE OF WINDOW SCREENS.

CURIOSITIES OF THE BIBLE.

(By Mary H. Byer)

The study of Bible curiosities is a profitable recreation. It gives us a greater knowledge of Bible facts, and is also a means of increasing our love for the Word of God.

There are three instances recorded in the Old Testament of the dead being raised to life—one by Elijah and two by Elisha.

Under the reign of King Solomon silver was as plentiful as stone in Jerusalem.

Huldah, a Prophetess, lived in a college.

First Chronicles 11:22 tells about a man that did a brave deed on a "snowy day."

A certain woman became the wife of a warrior. After her husband fled from his country she married another man; but when her first husband became great, he sent to the king of the country he had left and demanded his wife. The king took her from her second husband and sent her under a soldier's escort. Her second husband followed weeping until he was sent back by the captain. You can read this in Second Samuel 3.

An angel spoke to a man as he stood on a hilltop. At his feet lay 102 men scorched to death as recorded in Second Kings 1:9-12.

King Rehoboam had 88 children.

Ezra, the scribe, preached from a pulpit.

Isaiah 15:2 tells how baldness was produced artificially as indicative of mourning.

According to the Scriptures the first letter was written by King David to Joab.

Ezekiel was told by God not to mourn when his wife died.

There are only two women whose ages are recorded in the Bible—Sarah, 107, and Anna, 84.

There are only three persons in the Bible whose names commence with the letter "F"—Felix, Festus and Fortunatus.

Quartus is the only person mentioned whose name begins with Q.

We have record in Acts 20:7 of a sermon that lasted till midnight. During that sermon a man fell out of a third story window and was taken up for dead.

In Second Kings 6:6 we read that Elisha caused an ax to swim.

Second Kings 21:13 tells how men wipe dishes.

Damascus is the oldest city in the world.

Do you know the meaning of the word "Mizpah?" You will find it in Genesis 31:49.

THE HOUND DOG AND THE BUMBLEBEE.

A lean old hound dog lay asleep in the shade
By the edge of a clover patch;
And he dreamed a dream of Reynard, the fox—

Of the fox he hoped to catch.

A bumblebee with a velvety coat
Came by with a musical hum,
To sample a bloom quite near the dog
That now was snoring some.

The hum of the bee, so near at hand,
Made the hound dog think of the fox,
And the trail that lay through the leafy woods
To a den in the midst of the rocks.

He awoke with a start as the bumblebee
Came near to the end of his nose;
Then I heard him make one wicked snap,
And his jaws like lightning close.

In an instant then from an open throat
The howls of anguish sprung,
For the bumblebee, in an angry mood,
Sat down on the old dog's tongue.

The moral that I hope to teach
Is not so hard to see:
Don't snap too soon, before you think,
Like the dog at the bumblebee.

DO FIGURES LIE?

An old-fashioned Hebrew employer remonstrated when one of his employes asked for a raise on the ground that he worked too hard. "Why," protested the employer, "you have an easy time of it. You do not work at all. Look! There are 365 days in a year. Eight hours each day you sleep. That makes 122 days, leaving 243 days. Eight hours of every day you have all for yourself. That leaves 121 days. I give you an hour for lunch every day and that amounts to fifteen days more, leaving 106. You do not work on Sundays—52 more days off, leaving 54. You get Saturday afternoons off—another 26 days, leaving 28 days. You have two weeks for vacation every summer and you take off about a week for sickness. Only seven days a year to work—and New Year's, Washington's Birthday, Decoration Day, July Fourth, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas are holidays. Besides you take Yom Kippur off. I should give you a raise? You owe me money!"

ORIGIN OF MOTTO "IN GOD WE TRUST" ON U. S. COINS.

The introduction of a religious motto or device for the coinage of our country had been suggested, more or less indirectly, several times before the War Between the States, but the suggestion that was finally adopted came from a farmer in Maryland, in 1861. When Mr. Chase was secretary of the treasury, he received a letter from this old farmer, who suggested that we should indicate our profession in our coinage. The letter was referred to the director of the mint, James Pollock.

In Mr. Pollock's report for 1862, he discussed the question of the recognition of the sovereignty of God and our trust in Him on our coins. The proposition to introduce a motto on our coins, he said, had been considered by Mr. Chase, and he did not doubt, but believed, that it would meet with approval by an intelligent public sentiment. But Congress gave no attention to the subject, and in his next annual report he referred to the suggestion and said: "The motto suggested, 'God Our Trust,' is taken from our national hymn, 'The Star-Spangled Banner.' The sentiment is familiar to every citizen of our country; it has thrilled the hearts and falling in song from the lips of millions of American free men. The time is propitious; 'tis an hour of national peril and danger—an hour when man's strength is weakness, when our strength and salvation must be of God. Let us reverently acknowledge His sovereignty and let our coinage declare our trust in God."

A 2-cent bronze piece was authorized to be coined by Congress the following year—April 22, 1864—and upon this was stamped the motto "In God We Trust." In his report of that year, Mr. Pollock expressed his approval of the act and urged that the recognition of trust be extended to the gold and silver coins of the United States. By an act of Congress of March 3, 1865, the director of the mint, with the approval of the secretary of the treasury, was authorized to place upon all the silver and gold coins of the United States susceptible of such conditions thereafter to be issued the motto, "In God We Trust."

BOOKS OF BIBLE PUT INTO VERSE.

The great Jehovah speaks to us
In Genesis and Exodus;
Leviticus and Numbers see
Followed by Deuteronomy
Joshua and Judges sway the land;
Ruth gleams a sheath with trembling hand
Samuel and numerous Kings appear
Whose Chronicles we wondering hear.
Ezra, Nehemiah, now
Job speaks in Sighs, David in Psalms,
Proverbs teach us to scatter Alms.
Ecclesiastes; then come on
The sweet Songs of Solomon.
Isaiah, Jeremiah, then
With Lamentations takes the Pen
Ezekiah, Daniel, Hosea's lyre
Songs of Joel, Micah, Nahum come
While lofty Hezekiah finds room
Zephaniah, Haggai calls and Zachariah
And Malachi, with garments rent,
Concludes the Ancient Testament.
Matthew, Mark, Luke and John,
Acts of the Apostles follow on Romans and Corinthians learn
Galatians and Ephesians turn;
Phillipians and Colossians next
To Titus and to Philemon.
Hebrews has Paul's parting words
And James, the brother of our Lord.
Peter and beloved John
Take up the strain and hear it on Jude's solemn words great things reveal
And Revelations set the seal.

POPPY.

A young flapper breezed into a florist shop and looked around the shelves for something she wanted. Spying an old fellow puttering around a plant in the corner she walked over to him.

"Have you any passion poppy?" she inquired.

The old fellow looked up in surprise.

"Gol ding it!" he exclaimed. "You just wait 'til I get through pruning this lily."

TO SOUR CREAM.

When sour cream is called for, sweet cream may be used if "soured" with 2 teaspoons vinegar to every 1-2 cup cream. Evaporated milk, undiluted, may be soured in the same way.

RULES FOR BICYCLE RIDERS

To help reduce bicycle accidents, the following ten rules have been formulated by the Keystone Automobile Club. Observance of these important rules, safety experts declare, will make cycling safer without minimizing its enjoyment.

1. Obey all traffic signals, signs and rules. Observance of "stop" signs is important, because motorists on "through" streets are unprepared for sudden appearance of bicycles from side streets or highways.

2. Ride in single file. There is grave danger when groups of cyclists ride three or four abreast on heavily traveled roads.

3. Keep out of car tracks and ruts. Numerous accidents are due to riders being thrown from bikes in front of oncoming traffic.

4. Don't do "stunts" or "race" in traffic.

5. Don't carry a "passenger" or permit children on roller skates to hang on for a ride.

6. Always signal intention to make right or left turns.

7. Make repairs off the traveled portion of the roadway.

8. "Walk" the bike across heavy traffic unless it is controlled by officer or traffic light.

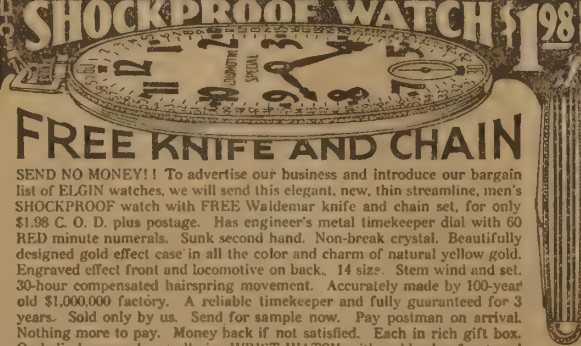

9. Don't "hitch" rides on trucks or other vehicles.

10. Always keep brakes and front and rear lights in good operating condition.

TO GET MOLD OFF LEATHER.

When leather binding on books develops mold, rub them with a cloth dampened with a few drops of ammonia. To prevent mold from forming, sprinkle a few drops of oil of lavender on the bookshelves. This is particularly advisable at the seashore, where the dampness is so penetrating.

HELPS FIT LINOLEUM.

An easy way to get a perfect fit for linoleum to be laid in an irregular room, where it has to be fitted into odd corners and around projections, is to use wire solder as a guide. The solder is pressed against the baseboard and around projections until it conforms to the shape of the room.

The shaped wire solder is then placed on the linoleum and the linoleum cut out around the wire pattern.

PARTICULAR.

A woman shopper approached the post office clerk at the stamp window, with, "I would like to look at your red two-cent stamps.

The clerk obligingly brought out a sheet of 100 stamps. Pointing to one of the stamps in the center of the sheet, she sweetly said, "I'll take that one."

EDITORS.

Most any man can be an editor. All the editor has to do is to sit at a desk six days a week, four weeks to a month, and 12 months a year and edit such stuff as this:

"Mrs. Jones of Cactus Creek let a can opener slip last week and cut herself in the pantry. . . . John Doe climbed on the roof of his house last week looking for a leak and fell, landing on his back porch. . . . While Harold Green was escorting Miss Violet Wise from the church social last Sunday night, a savage dog attacked them and bit Mr. Green on the public square. . . . Jim Frang, while harnessing a broncho last Saturday was kicked just south of his cornerib."

DRAWING LINES WITH A TYPE-WRITER.

Typists who have to draw a line on their work can do it much easier than by the usual method of repeatedly tapping the "dash" key. Instead, just hold the key down with one hand and with the other hand, release the carriage control and pull the carriage back and forth a couple of times. This will give a straight line across the paper. If the ribbon tends to bunch up, a couple of turns of the ribbon spool will rewind it.

IVY TREATMENT.

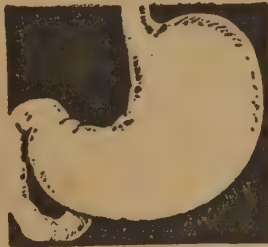

In the Science department of Newsweek for May 26, I note an article on the treatment of poison oak and poison ivy with the tannic acid of tea leaves. Having practiced medicine for nearly 50 years. I should like to give my experience in treating this ailment.

The antidote for many such poisons is to be found near the contraction of the poison. In the ashes of the campfire we have a most wonderful and quick cure! Take any can or lard bucket and punch a few holes in the bottom and fill half full of ashes. Now go to a nearby spring or brook and fill with water. The water percolates through the ashes and comes out a weak solution of lye. This solution readily dissolves the resin and inhibits the poisonous effect.—G. O. Jefferson, Portland, Oregon.

STORY OF A FAMOUS HYMN.

BY HORACE B. POWELL

RESCUE THE PERISHING

Rescue the perishing,
Care for the dying,
Snatch them in pity from sin and the grave
Weep o'er the erring one,
Lift up the fallen,
Tell them of Jesus, the mighty to save.

Though they are slighting Him,
Still He is waiting,
Waiting the penitent child to receive;
Plead with them earnestly,
Plead with them gently;
He will forgive if they only believe.

Rescue the perishing,
Duty demands it;
Strength for thy labor the Lord will provide;
Back to the narrow way
Patiently win them;
Tell the poor wanderer a Savior has died.

"RESCUE THE PERISHING"

"Aunt Fanny" Crosby, whose songs brightened gospel hymn collections in the years when mass evangelism was having its day, was much interested in city mission work in New York.

One night in midsummer while she was giving an evangelistic address before a great rally of working men the thought came to her that in her message that evening lay the only opportunity for salvation for many of those who were listening.

"I made a pressing plea," she recalled later, "that if there were a boy present who had wandered from his mother's home and teaching he would come to me at the close of the service. When the last song had been sung, a youth of 18 came forward and said: 'Did you mean me? I promised my mother to meet her in heaven but as I am now living that will be impossible.' We prayed together and he finally arose with a new light in his eyes and exclaimed: 'Now I can meet my mother, for I have found God.'

Fanny Crosby went home with the first lines of "Rescue the Perishing" singing through her mind. Before she went to bed that night she had completed her great soul-saving hymn. The very next day William H. Doane, the composer, was at work on the melody.

Soon after it was published, it was taken up by Moody and Sankey in their famous revival services and Francis K. Willard found it a favorite in her stirring temperance meetings.

He claims, "The power to get what you want revealed at last, for the first time since the dawn of creation. The very same power which the ancient Chaldeans, Cuthic, Priests, Egyptians, Babylonians, and Sumerians used is at our disposal today."

He says, "Follow the simple directions, and you can do anything you desire. No one can tell how these Master Forces are used without knowing about this book, but with it you can mold anyone to your will."

From this book, He says, "You can learn the arts of an old Science as practiced by the Ancient Priestly Orders. Their marvels were almost beyond belief. You, too, can learn to do them all with the instructions written in this Book," Lewis de Claremont claims. "It would be a shame if these things could all be yours and you failed to grasp them."

He claims, "It is every man's birthright to have these things of life: MONEY! GOOD HEALTH! HAPPINESS! If you lack any of these, then this book has an important message for you. No matter what you need, there exists a spiritual power which is abundantly able to bring you whatever things you need."

CHARRING ENLARGES PIPE STEM AND MAKES A TIGHT FIT.

If a rubber pipe stem does not fit tightly into the bowl, char it with a match to increase the diameter of the portion that fits into the bowl. Hold the stem in the match flame until small bubbles appear in the rubber, then stick it into water to harden.

COTTER-KEY GLIDERS ON SCOOP PROTECT WOOD FLOOR.

To keep a grain scoop from chipping or slivering the wood floor of a granary or wagon box, one farmer slipped a couple of cotter keys over the edges of the scoop. These serve as gliders and allow the work to be done without the edge of the scoop digging into the floor.

HELPFUL HINTS.In The Kitchen

Odds and ends of jellies, jams, sauces or other sweetmeat leftovers that accumulate in the refrigerator, may be utilized in mince or pumpkin pies with benefit to the flavor. A quantity of fruit juice that has refused to jell can be disposed of in fruit pies to the advantage of the sugar jar.

Paraffin used for sealing jellies, preserves, etc., may be used repeatedly if it is heated and strained.

If the enamel cooking dishes are stained or burned scrub with fine sandpaper. It is a quick and efficient cleaning method.

A new relish that is just right for your roast meats is made by boiling a cup of white syrup and a cup of water together for one minute. Add one apple cut in eighths, and cook about 15 minutes. Then add a cup of cranberries and one orange, cut in thin slices; cook two minutes longer; chill before serving.

Fluffy rice folded into whipped cream, and combined with fruit makes a delicious dessert.

Around The House.

To run rods through freshly laundered curtains, wrap tissue paper around the end of the rod and fasten with a rubber band.

To remove chocolate stains from table linen, sprinkle the spot with borax and the pour boiling water through the cloth.

Make an oilcloth cover for your ironing board. Put over cover on ironing board when brushing and sponging garments.

Painting the top and bottom cellar steps white will save many falls.

Don't keep honey in the refrigerator. It keeps better in the cupboard.

HOW TO DYE FADED RUG AT HOME.

Faded rugs can be restored by dyeing. For surest results professional work is advisable. But in many cases rugs can be dyed at home with satisfactory results.

Dyes for the purpose can be had at a reliable drugstore. The work can best be done outdoors; but, indoors or out, the rug should be laid on a thick pad of heavy paper.

The first step should be to go over the rug with water, put on with a broad brush; a whitewash brush, for example. While still damp, the dye is put on with the same brush.

Dye should be hot, and kept hot by floating the container in hot water. Dampening beforehand will help prevent streaking.

After dyeing, the rug should be hung up or supported in such a way that it will dry from both sides.

Light colors can be dyed darker shades, but dark shades cannot be lightened.

Stove polish moistened with vinegar instead of water gives a much better gloss.

NECKLACE OF SEEDS.

Watermelon seeds, shiny and black, make a good-looking necklace or bracelet.

Cover them with a layer of colorless nail polish and string on a fine strong cord. A short needle, that is strong, can be pushed through the seeds. A krewel needle number seven is a good size.

Pink dried beans, found in the market, can be strung to make a necklace and bracelet.

Cantaloupe seeds are another idea. Make them in two strands to get a bulky effect, one strand slightly longer than the other. Keep one a natural color by covering it with clear nail polish and paint the other to match your nails and lipstick with matching fingernail polish.

IF GAS LINE IS CLOGGED.

A tire pump, although seldom necessary today, nevertheless has many emergency uses for the automobile driver.

It is a good idea to carry the pump along, just in case.

It is useful to blow water from spark plug sockets when the plugs have been short-circuited by rain; to blow out clogged gas or oil lines, or clear dust out of the ignition system.

Clamped to the dash, underneath the hood, it will be out of the way, but handy for engine emergencies. By using thumb-screws, it can be detached when needed to inflate tires.

NAILS QUIET CREAKY STAIR.

To silence creaky stairs, drive finishing nails through the treads into the risers below. The tread is the flat step of the stair; the riser the vertical piece at the back of each tread.

Nails measuring from two and a half to three inches in length should be used, and should be driven in so that they slant alternately to the left and right.

SO SUCTION CUP HOLDS.

To make suction cups stick securely to surfaces to which they are attached, rub the edges of the suction cup over the surface of a cake of wet soap before putting into place.

The soap will form a sealer ring around the edge of the cup to prevent air from getting into the vacuum and destroying sticking quality of the cup.

CAN YOU SOLVE THIS?

Among the many clever and exceeding interesting articles that are always to be found in the State Magazine, published in Raleigh, by Mr. Carl Goerch, we recently noticed this puzzle, which we know our more than a half million almanac readers would like to try their hand solving.

The following diagram shows 16 matches so arranged as to form five squares. Now then, the object of the puzzle is to pick up two matches, move them to some other position and, when you finish, have four squares instead of five. There's no trick to it in any way. You can't pick up any two matches and lay them alongside of others, using two matches to make one side of a square. Neither can you take up two matches and throw them away: you've got to use all sixteen. Another thing—you can't leave any incomplete squares. And still another thing—all the squares must be exactly the same size as the original squares. Go ahead!

The reason the lines are numbered is that in case you can't solve the puzzle, you can look up the answer on another page of this almanac and it will tell you, by number, which lines should be moved.

RIDDLES.

What is a country seat? A milking stool.

What is most like a cat's tail? A kitten's tail.

What is taken from you before you get it? Your portrait.

Why is a dog's tail a curiosity? Because it was never seen before.

What is the least valuable thing a boy can have in his pocket? A hole.

Why is the letter T like an island? Because it is in the middle of water.

Why is a fly taller than most men? He stands over six feet without shoes and stockings.

When is the most dangerous time of the year to go into the country? When the trees are shooting.

What are the most unsociable things in the world? Milestones; for you never see two of them together.

Which is it which occurs twice in a moment, once in a minute, and not once in a thousand years? The letter m.

UNDERGROUND TANK IS REMOVED EASILY BY FLOATING IT.

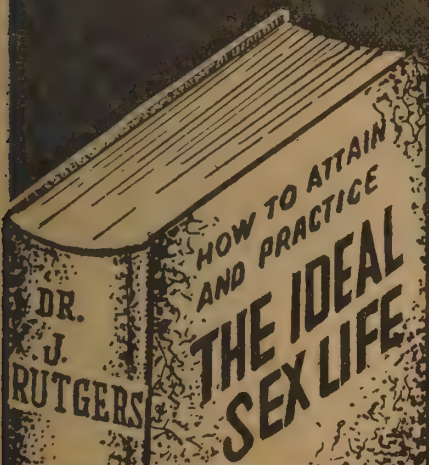

Having a large fuel-oil tank to remove from underground, one workman did the job singlehanded with little labor. First the tank was emptied, and then the soil was dug away from around it, after which water was applied to the hole to float the tank. A minimum amount of water can be used by applying just enough to float it, and then shoveling the dirt slowly back into the hole. This displaces the water, causing it to rise and bring the tank with it. It may be necessary to replenish the water as the work progresses to replace the water that soaks into the back fill.

EMPTY GUN SHELLS IGNITE EASILY TO START CAMPER'S FIRE.

The next time you are on a hunting trip and have no dry material for kindling a fire, a couple of empty shotgun shells will do the trick. There is enough wax in the paper of the shells to make them ignite easily if they are split into narrow strips with a knife.

CAROLINA ODDITIES.

A mountain near Asheville, N. C., is named "Beaucatcher," so-called because young women were supposed to have kept trysts with their beaux there.

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, N. C., is the only State University in the United States without railway passenger service.

An epitaph in the Old Cemetery of Charlotte, N. C., in disuse since 1845, reads: "Her Breach in the Social Circle Will Long Be Severely Missed."

In the 16th United States Congress, Felix Walker, Congressman from the North Carolina district which includes Buncombe county, delivered a long, fence-sitting speech. Asked the purpose of his meaningless talk, Walker declared, "I was just talking for Buncombe." Thus began the use of the word "buncombe" or "bunk."

Zebulon Vance, twice governor of North Carolina, still has many namesakes in the State, although he died in 1894. He is said to have offered $5 for every baby named for him.

Horses and cows were once stabled in offices now occupied by President Frank Graham of the University of North Carolina. When the University closed briefly following the Civil War, Old South, now the administration building, was used as a stable.

"The Hornets," Charlotte, N. C., ball club, adopted their name from General Cornwallis' statement when he was camping near Charlotte in 1780. He is said to have declared when natives harassed him: "Let's get out of here; this place is a damned hornet's nest."

When the University of North Carolina first opened its doors on January 16, 1795, it had no students. The first one, Hinton James, arrived nearly a month late, on February 12, 1795. Reason: He had walked 170 miles from Wilmington to Chapel Hill.

GREASED COTTON IS GOOD BAIT TO CATCH MICE.

If you have been unsuccessful in trapping mice, try using cotton soaked in lard or bacon grease. Such a bait has a double attraction for mice. They like lard as a food and cotton for their nests. The cotton can be fastened to the bait pan of the trap with a tack.

THROWING GEMS AWAY.

I saw a man throw gems away
And then go forth to gather stones,
And heard him laugh and lightly say:
"These gems belong to crowns and thrones,
Or those who have far higher aims
Than lie along my earthly beach,
Or who puts in their earnest claims
For things beyond my mortal reach."

The gems were purposes sublime
And noble aims that all should prize,
And plans by which we each may climb
The path that in our future lies,
To heights that make us useful men,
Whatever place in life we fill,
Whether to wield the fluent pen,
Or work in busy mart or mill.

He cast aside the gems of prayer,
The gems of honesty and truth,
And seemed for nothing great to care,
Although he was a handsome youth
Who could have filled a worth-while place
Somewhere within his earthly realm,
With beauty shining from his face,
Awaiting heaven's diadem.

The stones he gathered in their stead
Were stones of idleness and sin,
And mental food on which he fed
That never helps a soul to win,
Nor blesses others on life's road
Who ought to have a lifting hand,
That they may bravely bear their load
While passing through this pilgrim land.

He gathered stones of unbelief
In God and His eternal Word,
And seemed to reach for ev'ry sheaf
Against the truth of which he heard;
Also he gathered stones of lust,
Of selfishness and wrong desires,
And built on nothing we can trust,
And nothing that uplifts, inspires.

We cannot throw life's gems away
And ever hope to wear a crown,
Or reach the heights where we shall stay
With men of worth and true renown;
For by these gems they won their fame,
And wreathed the laurels for their brow,
And left the world a noble name,
To whom, in true respect, we bow.

HOW TO FIX SAGGING CANE SEATS IN YOUR CHAIR.

If cane seats in your chairs sag, they can be tightened by shrinking them with warm water and soapsuds. Plenty of time should be allowed for the cane to dry before using the chair.

Always use bread crumbs to cover articles to be fried. Cracker crumbs absorb the grease.

DID YOU KNOW—

Small mats cut from old inner tubes or rubberized raincoats and used under vases and other plant containers will protect the finish on your furniture from moisture.

If you will wipe perfectly dry all articles and utensils to be placed in your electric refrigerator, you will find that less moisture collects on the freezing unit.

To keep the inside of a gas range in good condition, remove rust that may have accumulated with coarse sandpaper, then rub over entire surface with olive oil.

Many kitchens have a bare, unused wall space that could be usefully and attractively transformed into recessed shelves.

Two tablespoons chile sauce or catsup poured over top of meat loaf when half-baked gives a good flavor and rather crusty covering.

Shrinkage in woolens is usually due to over-washing. In ordinary circumstances, three minutes is long enough for them.

WANTED

OLD BOOKS, PAMPHLETS, LETTERS, Newspapers, Et., Relative to North Carolina. Send list. S. W. Worthington, Wilson, N. C.

DO FIGURES LIE?

The instructor was striving to drive home some truths. "Figures can't lie," he declared. "For instance, if one man can build a house in twelve days, twelve men can build it in one day."

A puzzled student interrupted: "Then 288 men can build it in one hour, 17,280 in one minute, and 1,036,809 in one second."

While the instructor was still gasping, the ready reckoner went on: "And if one ship can cross the Atlantic in six days, six ships can cross it in one day. Figures can't lie, can they?"

SPEAKING OF MILEAGE.

The average person thinks of an airplane as traveling on air, but a glance at the mileage of airport paving indicates that planes, like automobiles, need highway mileage and plenty of it.

The new Washington, D. C., airport will have a total asphalted area, including four huge runways, parking areas, and, roads equivalent to 83 miles of highway 18 feet wide. What is purported to be the world's largest airport, in Newfoundland has the equivalent of 116 miles of 18-foot asphalted pavings.

Still the airports are much smaller than cities in paved areas. The city of Detroit, for instance, has in its streets the equivalent of 37,130 miles of 18-foot asphalted highway.

"NUTS TO YOU."

"Nuts to you"—the idiom of present popularity, meant a rejection of a proposal during the medieval ages. The suitor would invite himself to supper at the home of the girl he desired to wed and if, at the end of the meal, the girl served him a plate of nuts, it meant his proposal was rejected.

ORIENTAL MARRIAGE SUPERSTITIONS.

Domestic trouble will come upon anyone who is married within one hundred days after a funeral in the family.

If a bride breaks the heel of her shoe in going from her father's to her husband's house, she will be an unhappy wife.

A piece of bacon and a little package of sugar hung on the back of a bride's vehicle keeps off demons who might spoil her wedding journey.

If a bride stands in a round, shallow basket while putting on her wedding clothes, she will have a well-rounded, peaceful married life.

For four months after her marriage a bride must not go into a house where there has been a death or a birth, or she will quarrel with her husband.

At her last meal in her father's house, the bride must eat only half her bowl of rice or she will always have a scarcity of food in her new home.

WHEN IRONING LINEN KERCHIEF.

Linen handkerchiefs should be ironed damp, not wet, and with a moderately hot iron. Before using the iron, smooth out the handkerchief on the ironing board with the hands so that the threads lie straight and true.

This insures a precise, neat meeting of the corners when the handkerchief is folded. Iron the handkerchief first on the wrong side and then on the right.

HOW TO WASH GARDEN GLOVES.

Weekly washing of canvas garden gloves will keep them in good condition.

Turn them wrong side out, soak an hour or longer in cold water to cover and then wash with the rest of the laundry.

Two pairs of gloves should last the average home gardener a season.

HOW TO BEND WOOD STRIPS.

Thin wood strips that are being used in shop work can be easily bent for different uses by steaming the sticks under a damp cloth with a hot iron. The damp cloth is placed over the strip and a hot iron run over it. The steam, forced into the wood, makes it pliable, so that it can be bent into any desired shape. By dampening and ironing the cloth two or three times, the wood will become sufficiently wet to be worked.

PLANT STAKES.

Stakes for house plants can be made from wire coat hangers painted green. Cut the wire the desired length, then make a loop at top to hold flowers.

"If Husbands Only Knew—"

If husbands only knew how much they are missing they would not wait another moment to read "Sex Life in Marriage." Many men (even those who have been married a long time) don't get half the delight because they don't know the knack of sexual intercourse!

WHO IS TO BLAME?

But this is not all. What of the wife? In all-too-many cases she is cheated out of her sex rights. The sex act becomes a one-sided affair. The husband thinks his wife is at fault. The wife thinks her husband is to blame. The marriage itself is in danger!

TELLS WHAT TO DO AND HOW

Actually, both must learn exactly what to do before, during, and after sexual intercourse. In "Sex Life in Marriage," Dr. Oliver M. Butterfield gives detailed directions to both husband and wife.

Using plain words, this famous Marriage Counsellor tells what must be done, and what must not be done! The "Secrets" of sex life are clearly revealed, husband and wife fall in love anew—the home is held together! Worry and anxiety disappear.

Sex mastery replaces doubt. Married life becomes doubly delightful because the joys of marriage are shared by both!
